

WORLD-WIDE STRIKE CONSIDERED LIKELY

ENGLAND, GERMANY AND UNITED STATES FACE SERIOUS TROUBLE WITH COAL MINERS.

BRITISH CASE WORST

Two Million Men and Women on Strike or Are Unemployed While Prices Are Reaching High-est Levels.

London, March 11.—The British coal strike which began on March 1, when nearly one million men employed in the collieries of England, Scotland and Wales laid down their tools at a given signal, shows little signs of settlement.

Besides the miners another million workers, men and women employed in factories and mills in all parts of Great Britain, have been thrown out of employment because of the impossibility of obtaining fuel to run the machinery.

Prices Take Advance. Prices of provisions and all the necessities of life have gone up to such an extent that extreme distress exists among the poorer classes.

Railways have had to restrict their train service, river steamers have had to cease running, the gas and electric supply works have been compelled to restrict their delivery of illuminants, the mail services have been retarded and many ocean steamers have had to be laid up in the harbor.

Settlement Has Failed. The government has been trying to bring the miners and the coal owners together, but has not yet succeeded, and it is thought probable that as a final measure a minimum wage bill for miners will have to be introduced in the house of commons.

Many of the mine owners have expressed their sympathy with the principle of a fixed minimum wage, but others declined even to consider the idea.

Steamers Are Withdrawn. South Hampton, March 11.—The American liner, St. Paul, which was due to sail for New York on March 23, and the White Star liner Oceanic, due to sail for the same destination on March 27, have been withdrawn from service in consequence of the British coal strike.

German Strike Begins. Berlin, March 11.—The coal strike went into effect in the Westphalian coal mine today when about fifty per cent of the 350,000 miners employed there obeyed the call of their leaders to cease work.

According to reports received from the miners the first shifts to defend the pits today were considerably affected, but the results were varied at the different mines. In some districts the cessation of work practically was complete, while in others only from 15 to 30 per cent of the men struck.

Report From Essen. Essen, Germany, March 11.—Official figures relating to a part of the mines in this district show that of 172,818 miners employed, there are 129,109 or 75 per cent who have continued at work.

Severe Coal Shortage. New York, March 11.—With more than a million coal miners on strike in Great Britain and 150,000 miners in Germany voting to quit work to force higher wages, a severe coal shortage in Europe is feared.

The anthracite coal operators are drafting their reply to the hard coal workers here for presentation to the miners Wednesday, while next week at Cleveland the bituminous operators and their employees will confer for the purpose of trying to bring about an adjustment of conditions in the soft coal fields.

New York, March 11.—A world-wide strike of coal miners is regarded by the coal trade as more than a likelihood in the present negotiations now in progress between the anthracite and bituminous workers and their employers in this country do not result in a settlement of working conditions.

NEW MEXICO LEGISLATURE WILL ELECT U. S. SENATORS

Republicans Have Majority of Nine On Joint Ballot—Inauguring Their Election of Both Senators.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 11.—New Mexico's first state legislature convened here today. During the first week or ten days of the session the interest of the lawmakers will be centered almost wholly upon the election of two United States Senators.

The Republicans have a majority of nine on joint ballot, insuring the election of two Republicans as the first representatives of New Mexico in the upper house of the national Congress.

ARBITRATION TREATIES QUESTIONED BY SENATE

Authorities Say That Although The Treaties May Not Pass Now, There Is Hope For Future Action.

Paris, France, March 11.—The action of the United States senate on the question of the arbitration treaties is regarded in French circles here as a serious blow to their virtual rejection. There is some hope, however, that new negotiations may be begun and that at a later period the United States senate may ratify the general arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France to a form which will be worth while.

REBELS LOST HEAVILY IN BATTLE SATURDAY

Insurgent Mexicans Suffered Reverse In Engagement With Federals Near Gomez Palacios—150 Killed.

Mexico City, March 11.—The rebels lost 150 men in a battle near Gomez Palacios on March 9, according to a special dispatch from Torreon via San Pedro received by the Imperial today. The federal casualties in the fighting have not been reported, the rebels forces routed by the rural guards and forced to flee from Gomez Palacios, March 9, concentrated in a ranch in the vicinity of a fresh attack, but a column of cavalry, infantry and artillery under General Tracy, Aubert, which had just arrived from Torreon, attacked them on the plain of San Francisco. The rapid fire guns of General Aubert's force created great havoc in the ranks caused them to take flight.

REACH SETTLEMENT IN THE CRONIN CASE

Widow of Late Michael Cronin Keeps One Half of $3,055 Placed in Bank After Latter's Death.

A final settlement has been reached in the case of Agnes B. Cronin, administratrix of the estate of the late Michael Cronin, who was murdered at his home one night during January, 1910, by Ellen Cronin, widow of the murdered man. According to the terms of settlement Mrs. Cronin will retain one-half of the $3,055 in gold which she placed in a safety vault of the First National bank, and the other half less some $500 attorneys' fees, or about $1,025, will be divided among the heirs. Suit was originally brought by the administratrix for a larger sum than the amount placed in the bank but the settlement was reached on the basis of that amount.

Attorneys Marshall P. Richardson and E. P. Carrister were counsel for the administratrix and John Cunningham was attorney for Mrs. Cronin.

Mackie Case Again. The case of George Mackie, brought by Samuel Mackie, a gunsmith, against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company was called in the circuit court this afternoon. The plaintiff's residence is just east of the city of Beloit on a farm adjoining the tracks of the defendant company. Action is brought to recover damages to the little boy who was injured by a passing train June 17, 1910.

MAY TRY TRIANGLE MEN A SECOND TIME

Jury Will Decide Whether Men Acquitted of Manslaughter Charge Have Another Trial.

New York, March 11.—The criminal branch of the Supreme Court was the scene of something new in the line of court procedure today, when the question of whether persons who had been once tried and acquitted should be tried a second time was left for a jury to decide. The case was that of Isaac Horris and Max Blau, owners of the Triangle Waist Company, in whose establishment 137 working girls lost their lives in a fire a year ago.

Recently Horris and Blau were tried and acquitted of a charge of manslaughter in the first and second degrees. The District Attorney was dissatisfied with the verdict and asked the Court to set a date for a second trial. Counsel for the defense opposed the motion on the ground that the question of second jeopardy was raised. To this the District Attorney replied that there were several indictments remaining against the two men, and that different persons were named in each indictment. A special jury today listened to the arguments of counsel on both sides and will later render its decision in the question of a second trial.

SAN SALVADOR GIVES SEC. KNOX GLAD HAND

Secretary of State Met With Cheering Crowds and Entertained at Residence of Deputy.

San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, March 11.—It was the turn today of the Salvadorians to extend a welcome to Philander C. Knox, United States secretary of state. The foreign minister at the head of a reception committee met the state secretary's party on its arrival at Acapulco, where the police band played the national anthem of the two republics.

Guards of honor saluted Mr. Knox and then accompanied his motor car to the residence of Deputy Carl Molander, which has been placed at the disposal of Mr. and Mrs. Knox during their stay and where a detachment of the cadet corps mounted at guard of honor.

Crowds thronged the streets and between the station and the deputy's home cheering and waving handkerchiefs and saluting the distinguished guests in the friendliest manner.

In the course of conversation today, when discussing the subject of the reception which had been accorded him at the various places he has visited, Secretary Knox said: "Nothing could exceed the kindness and hospitality of the governments and the people I have visited unless it was the work of dealing with the false rumors to the contrary which have been put in circulation by those seeking to deprive to prevent a better understanding between the United States and Central America."

DIXON CHALLENGES ATTITUDE OF TAFT

Invites Congressman McKinley to Make Answer in Behalf of His Chief.

Washington, March 11.—A copy of Colonel Roosevelt's letter was made public today, was forwarded by Senator Dixon, his manager to William H. McKinley director of the Taft campaign bureau. In an accompanying letter Senator Dixon asks whether Mr. McKinley's position is endorsed by President Taft. Senator Dixon's letter said:

"In view of this unqualified endorsement of my challenge of March 4th, for a general primary test of the sentiment of republican voters, as to their presidential candidate in the approaching campaign, I shall be glad to know whether Mr. Taft whose personal representative you say you are, similarly endorses you in refusing that test. Signed, Joseph M. Dixon."

Taft Pleased. Pittsburgh, March 11.—With warm congratulations in the form of messages stored away in White House portfolios than he has received on any recent trip, President Taft passed through Pittsburgh today on his way east from Chicago and Toledo.

Most of the messages of praise referred to his Toledo speech Friday night in which he denounced the recall of judges and the recall of judicial decisions. Discussing the trip the President said:

"I received a cordial welcome by the people of Toledo and Chicago and under a deep sense of obligation to them. The discussion of questions of government brought forth many sympathetic assurances and the American citizens of foreign birth or descent, of whom several great audiences were composed, seemed especially interested and concerned in the outlines of constitutional problems."

The spirit of optimism and of faith in our institutions, of confidence in another, is as strongly in evidence today as at any time in the history of our country."

SUPREME POWER TO NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

New Constitution of China, As Finally Approved, Gives Legislative Body Most Authority.

Nanking, March 11.—The constitution of the new republic of China, as finally approved today, places the supreme power in the hands of the national assembly.

A notable feature is that all of the acts of the president require the approval of the assembly, and this body also has complete control of the cabinet.

The assembly elects the president and vice president and may pass any law over the executive's veto at its pleasure.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, will turn over the great seal of the presidential office to Tang Hui Yi, Yank's personal representative, as soon as the details of the launching of the constitutional government can be accomplished.

Pending this, Dr. Sun continues to hold office as actual acting president.

NEVADA WOMAN SPENDS TWO WEEKS REGISTERING TWO THOUSAND VOTERS

Rough-and-ready, Cal., March 11.—Miss Mamie Morrison, champion horse-woman of Nevada county, today checked up results of the two weeks' work as deputy registrar of voters, and showed three thousand names to her credit, mostly men. For each name Miss Morrison estimates that she has ridden an average distance of more than a mile and her work day has averaged eight hours in the saddle. Her list also has been augmented by insisting that in changing partners be registered before changing their names.

GOVERNOR PAROLE MAN WHO SHOWED CASH OF $7,000 IN GOLD BARS STOLEN FROM STEAMER

WOMAN JUDGE WILL TRY MEN FOR BOOTLEGGING

Judge and Several Members of Jury Are Women in Trial of Bootleggers at Glenwood Springs.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., March 11.—Several men here, charged with bootlegging, will be tried before a woman judge and their fate, from all indications, will rest with a jury composed partly of women. Mrs. L. M. Taglio, the only woman judge in Colorado, will preside in the county court of Eagle county, where the bootlegging cases will be tried. Nearly half of the venire summoned for the present term of court, which began today, are women.

PASSENGERS ESCAPE OVER ICE WHEN STEAMER SINKS

Laura M. Hill Sinking Off Shore as Passengers Reach Crib Over Ice—No One Lost.

Chicago, March 11.—The steamer Laura M. Hill, is reported to be sinking in the lake two miles off the Chicago pier. The captain and crew of 32 persons, one a woman are said to have reached the two mile crib in safety walking over the ice.

This is a good example of what is a common phenomena in the polyglot Balkans: A man named Pavot—that is, Paul—had five sons; one settled in Athens, called himself Pavopoulo, the Greek form of Paulson; the second went to Belgrade and called himself Pavlovich; the third in Sofia called himself Pavloff; the fourth made his home in Bucharest under the name Pavlascu, while the youngest set up in business in Constantinople, assuming the Turkish form of Pavloglu.

SILAS HAYNER DIED ON SUNDAY MORNING

Prominent Janesville Man, Resident Here Over Sixty Years, Passed Away After Long Illness.

After an illness which confined him to the house for some weeks death came to the relief of Silas Hayner at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and the three spirits went out to life beyond. Mr. Hayner suffered a slight stroke of paralysis about a year ago which effected his right side, causing him more or less inconvenience. While he did not surrender to the disease it was evident to his friends that it was telling on him, and in the latter part of January, while suffering from bronchitis, a second shock so reduced his vitality that he was obliged to give up, and in spite of all that skill and loving care could accomplish the spark of life slowly faded away.

Silas Hayner was born in Cropsey, N. York, in 1833. He came west with his father's family in 1850 and spent some years on a farm south of the city in what was known as the Hayner neighborhood. Later he came to Janesville and in the seventies bought an interest in the insurance business of E. L. Dimock and the firm of Dimock and Hayner was organized. On the death of Mr. Dimock, Mr. Hayner succeeded to the business, and at the time of his death was the senior member of the firm of Hayner and Boers.

Mr. Hayner combined with honesty and a keen sense of honor a genial personality which won for him a place in the hearts of all who knew him. He was a familiar character on the streets and in the business circles with which he had so long associated, and he enjoyed the marked distinction of a man without an enemy. During the years of active life he was an efficient worker in the Presbyterian church. The outlook on life was optimistic and always hopeful. He was a staunch old time republican and took a lively interest in public affairs—serving the city for time on the school board. His life was like an open book. He served his day and generation well and a pleasant memory lingers with all who knew him.

More than half a century ago, Mr. Hayner was married to Miss Jennie Boers. The golden wedding anniversary was passed and they journeyed on, happy in the close associations of a lifetime, hoping that the borrowed years might be prolonged. They had no children, but many years a nephew of Mrs. Hayner has shared the home as a member of the family. Generous sympathy will be extended to Mrs. Hayner in her hour of deep bereavement.

One brother and three sisters survive him, Clara Hayner and Mrs. W. A. Lowell of Chicago, Mrs. D. L. Fry, Portland, Oregon; Mrs. H. F. Bliss of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the house at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Samuel Peterson.

Funeral services for the late Samuel Peterson will be held from the First Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. David Benton will officiate and interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Margaret King.

Margaret, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. King, born Saturday morning, died Sunday morning. She was born apparently well and her death came very suddenly. Owing to the illness of the mother funeral services were made as brief as possible and the tiny remains were interred in Mt. Olivet cemetery yesterday afternoon. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends.

Mrs. Ann Fathers.

Last services for Mrs. Ann Fathers were celebrated at Trinity Episcopal church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. Father Henry Williamson after prayers at the home, 221 North Hill street. The boy choir, assisted in the service. The pall bearers were Frank and John Fathers, C. F. Barker and C. F. Carr. Burial was made in Oak Hill. The services were attended by a large number of friends of Mrs. Fathers and many beautiful flowers were contributed.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Schultz.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wilhelmina Schultz will be held from the home of Mrs. William (Robert), 313 North Pearl street at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon and at St. John's German Lutheran church at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Fuchs will read the service. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Samuel Peterson.

Funeral services for Samuel Peterson will be held at the Congregational church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. Dr. David Benton officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery. The Modern Woodmen lodge, of which Mr. Peterson was a member, will conduct the services at the chapel.

Miss Carrie Lee.

Last rites for Miss Carrie Lee were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her late home on South Academy street. The services were private and the Rev. T. D. Williams officiated. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN TRAIN SCHEDULE

Changes in Northwestern Passenger Schedule Results in Suspension of Two Trains.

Important changes have been made in the schedule of Northwestern passenger trains into Janesville, resulting in the suspension of two trains, one to Chicago by way of Beloit at 7:20 p. m., Nos. 516 and 517 being merged into one train, and the train from Chicago leaving at 12:10 for Madison and points north has also been eliminated.

The changes are as follows: On the Galena division: No. 300, except Sunday, connecting from Beloit, Janesville, Madison, and north, will run on ten minutes earlier schedule, leaving Beloit 10:05 a. m., arriving DeKalb 11:05 a. m., to connect with the new schedule of No. 12 for the west, leaving DeKalb 11:08 a. m.

"The Minnesota and Dakota Special."

Nos. 516-517 daily, will be merged into "The Badger State Express," Nos. 501-504, between Chicago and Elroy, and will bear the train numbers 617-516 west of Elroy. Also carry the through coaches between Chicago and Elroy and the cafe-parlor cars, which will run between Elroy and Mukwonago, instead of to and from Chicago.

No. 517 will continue to leave Elroy 3:40 p. m. as heretofore. No. 516, daily, from Elroy 4:35 p. m., will maintain present schedule to Waukegan 7:25 a. m., arriving Winona 11:20 a. m., and will continue to leave Winona 11:30 a. m., arriving Sparta 1:35 p. m., Elroy 3:05 p. m., and as No. 504 will leave Elroy 3:30 p. m., instead of No. 516 at 3:20 p. m., arriving Madison 6:45 p. m., Janesville 7:15 p. m., Harvard 8:07 p. m., Chicago 8:45 p. m. (instead of No. 516 at 10:20 a. m.).

No. 503, daily, "The Minnesota and Dakota Special," will leave Chicago 7:45 p. m., instead of 8:00 p. m., will arrive Harvard 9:25 p. m., Beloit 10:20 p. m., Janesville 10:50 p. m., Madison 12:05 a. m., Elroy 2:35 a. m., Sparta 4:15 a. m., LaCrosse 5:05 a. m., Winona 6:20 a. m., Rochester 8:40 a. m., Mukwonago 12:25 p. m., New Ulm 1:30 p. m., current schedule. No change west to Marshall 4:57 p. m., arriving Watertown 8:05 p. m., instead of 7:40 p. m., daily, Redfield (No. 53) 11:30 p. m., except Sunday, as heretofore.

It is officially stated that the suspension of these two trains through Janesville is not for the purpose of transferring them to the other line from Milwaukee, to St. Paul, as was additions have been made to the number of trains running on this division of the road. The move is simply one of economy on the part of the company as travel is light at present, and the traffic does not warrant the expense of these two trains.

Chicago and North-Western.

NORTH WYE ADDED TO WISCONSIN DIVISION

Section of Madison Division, to be Known Hereafter as North Wye, Transferred to Wisconsin.

In a letter from C. B. Vilas written Saturday, the following was given: "The Madison division has been turned over to the Wisconsin division for operation the line from Harvard to the north switch of the East Wye at Caladonia Junction."

The letter goes on to state that it will therefore be necessary to secure Wisconsin division time tables and to get orders from the Wisconsin division train master at Chicago. For a great many years this section of track has belonged to the Madison division and special attention will be necessary on the part of the trainmen who have been used to the old division. This will from now on be known as the North Wye on the tables.

There is a vacancy on the second turn-around job between Belvidere and Janesville for an engineer and a fireman, applications being received until March 9. An engineer in place of E. Kingsley is also wanted on the above job.

Much of the wood work in the store room appeared in a new coat of grey and brown paint as the result of William Sullivan's activity.

Leo Murtough returned to work the other day after a short illness, although Frank is not yet back. J. Randolph Fish was the turn table engineer during the absence of the regular man.

R. K. Smith and Patrick Davoy have spent the past week in the office writing on the engineers' examination. They started with the rear air hose of the engine and got as far as the injector by Thursday night.

Engineer Earnest and Conductor Perry took the special for the "Chicago" to Elroy yesterday. This consisted of a coach and two baggage cars which were taken to Racine.

The Atwood-Davis sand hog was sent out of the local shops today with a new coat of paint and a homemade smoke stack. It has undergone a complete overhauling during the winter and is now ready for business.

Firemen for all of the jobs which expired at noon, March 9, have been assigned their positions and their names were posted in the roundhouse.

Engineer O. Wojahn was given runs 217-294 and Engineer W. Carman was given 84 and 231 on the bulletin posted yesterday.

Chief Caller Robert Erdman was off Saturday and Sunday on account of sickness. He returned to work this morning. Edward Sullivan took his place calling Saturday and the foreman Ward was on the job yesterday.

Dispatcher Helper Dennis Courtney is back at work this morning after a short time off on account of sickness.

Dispatcher Helper Mika sustained a painful injury on the foot yesterday when a large chunk of coal fell off a car and broke one of his toes. The accident did not lay him up, although it was of a very painful nature.

Copper Smith Haddock returned to work today after a short lay off. He spent the day in Chicago yesterday.

Frank Dempsey who is night caller in town was a Chicago visitor yesterday.

Some of the employees of the North-western at South Janesville have not yet gotten over the sadness of last Friday when the old shop car was sent to Chicago on the rear end of the equipment train and a new yellow coach, with real seats, was put in its place. It was reported that some one had discovered the old car to have been the first one George Washington rode in and it was being taken to Chicago for exhibition purposes. After letting it pull out without knowing it once or twice, Storekeeper Hennessey managed to catch it this morning and appeared at the roundhouse on time. Those who have to ride in the new car are beginning to object as they have to wake up twice every morning where before the ride down town would get them almost awake by the time they arrived.

DEATH CLAIMS AGED PIONEER OF COUNTY

Mrs. Nels Olson, 89 Years Old, and Resident of State Since 1844, Died at Newark Saturday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Orfordville, March 11.—Died, at her home near Newark, Saturday morning, March 9, Mrs. Nels Olson, aged nearly 89 years.

Nearby Nelson was born in Norway, April 22, 1823. With her parents she came to Dane County, Wis., where she married Jens Logan. About 1844 they moved to the farm near Newark where she has since resided. Two sons and two daughters blessed their union, three of whom survive her—J. Logan, Mrs. Johnson of Beloit, and Mrs. Nels Hungen; Knute Logan having died. Her husband, Jens Logan, died of the cholera, contracted while taking care of his brothers, the Springers, in the Arctic.

Later Mrs. Logan married Nels Olson, with whom she has made her home for some time, and one daughter, Mrs. Landetork, who is dead.

Nels Olson the second husband, died some years ago. After his burial it was remembered that it was exactly fifty years to the very day and hour since her first husband was buried.

The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. J. A. Bergh at the home at two P. M., Wednesday, March 13, and at the Luther Valley church at three P. M.

Mrs. Olson has been a faithful wife and loving mother and kind neighbor, who will long be remembered.

Sunday Lecture.

The Rev. Salmela's lecture on "The Kingdom of God Overcomer" on Sunday evening, was heard with eager interest by a good sized congregation. It is impossible to do justice to the lecture in a brief report. It showed not only the wonderful experience and Christian work of Pastor Hal who was a Confucian scholar converted to Christianity, but it showed the great need of China at this critical period of its history.

A good collection was taken for missions.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Long and baby Jeanette, went to Elgin Saturday to visit his brother Frank.

The Rev. M. H. Hecke of Stoughton, Sup't. of the Madison district of the United Norwegian Lutheran church speaks at the Luther Valley church next Sunday, at 11 A. M.

Albert Holden, who has been living with his parents west of the village, died Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Skog in the village.

Hans Kleven, who has spent a month enjoying visits with friends in this vicinity, went to Chicago this morning. Tomorrow he will go to New York City where he will take passage for Christiania, Norway. If Mr. Kleven enjoys living in Norway he may make his permanent home there. We wish him a pleasant journey and hope he may return to Wisconsin.

Cheering Him Up.

"Just before his departure for Spain," said the magazine editor, "I dined with Mr. Howells in his Half Moon street apartment in London. He told us all about his phenomenal sales. Then—bashing for compliments, you know—he sighed and said, 'I grow richer and richer, but all the same, I think my work is falling off. My new work is not so good as my old.' 'Oh, nonsense!' said Mr. Howells. 'You write just as well as you ever did, my boy. Your taste is improving—that is all.'—Christian Reg-ister.

Ingenious Old Sea Clock.

The most popular form of old sea clock was the sandglass, which greatly resembled the present day egg boiler. Many of these glasses were timed to run 24 hours, and prior to the ship leaving land the glass was set exactly at noon. If it was carefully watched and turned as soon as the sand ran down the skipper could reckon the days with fair accuracy.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Janesville, Wis., March 11, 1912.

Editor Gazette:

As the Common Council of Janesville is at the present time considering the question of determining the opening of the theatres on Sunday, I thought just a few words would not go amiss. I am talking from a workman's standpoint, the class that are in the majority the world over. I think this idea of cutting out baseball, tennis, theatres and other innocent amusements, entirely on the Sabbath day, is all bosh. I do not think that any of us are so good but what we could go to a five cent theatre or to the Myers theatre on Sunday afternoon or evening or to a baseball game. Just look at other cities in the state, cities like Milwaukee, Madison, Watertown, Johnson, Wausau, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Racine, Kenosha, La Crosse, Beaver Dam and East Chicago. Are they dead? Well I guess not. They all have Sunday amusements and are forging ahead of this city, are alive and up to date. Take Milwaukee, for instance, you can go there on a Sunday and for a small amount of money you can enjoy yourself; not only that, but you will notice less rowdiness and less work for the police there than you would here.

What can you do in Janesville on a Sunday for amusements? The women and children can take a walk, sit in the court house park, go a visiting, while the men could go to a baseball game down at Yost park and pay as much to see that game as they would spend for a whole afternoon's sport, if we had the equal of other cities in the way of baseball and other amusements. But, is that enough? No! What we want in Janesville is the theatres open on Sunday, say from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7:30 to 10:30 in the evening. We want a picnic ground where there would be different kinds of amusements, such as made by the band and that to be paid by the city; no begging for money for something that interests everybody. There could be games for the children for which no charge need be made. The city ought to buy a park and have control of it. They could sell pop, ginger ale, pop corn, ice cream, etc., to help defray expenses. That money could be used toward paying for the band, having a policeman on the ground (in case we need one) and making improvements in the way of buildings, etc.

I know for a fact that good mechanics have come to work in Janesville, and after a couple of weeks they would go to Chicago or Milwaukee or other places, just because they did not know what to do with themselves on Sunday, for they were accustomed to other places. Now as I said before I am writing from the workman's point of view. Let us see how it works. He goes to work early in the morning long before others get out of bed, he works all day long until 6:00 o'clock and after, by the time he has washed himself and changed, what time is it? It is seven or eight. He wants to enjoy himself in the evening but he has to put on different clothes, and by the time he gets down town it is 8:00 o'clock. How much recreation does he get? And besides, a man that works all day long is too tired to leave his home in the evening. Now the new way, with theatres etc., open on Sunday, it gives the workman a chance for recreation, which would not necessarily conflict with his church duties, nor keep his children from attending Sunday school. He could take his family either to the theatre or the park, and when he goes home in the evening he will feel more rested and it is dollars to doughnuts that when Monday morning comes he will feel more rested than he does now under your present system. I have always contended that the majority of people should rule and I am satisfied the majority are with me in just what I am writing about. Instead of being antediluvian let us be modern and up to date. Let us have amusements (and lots of them) and we will see the city grow. People will come to live here and instead of our population increasing 200 or 300 inhabitants in ten years, it will increase several thousands. Let us show our several thousands that we are alive and doing. "Let us Grow" and boost Janesville for a larger and better city.

CARDINALS EASILY
DEFEATED WATERLOO

Race For State Championship Narrowed by Elimination of One Northern Team.—Saturday Score, 46 to 15.

There was no doubt that the Janesville Cardinals had by far the more requirements for a championship team than their opponents from Waterloo in the game Saturday evening, as the score alone is a story in itself. 46 to 15 was the relation of the two teams at the close of the game and only in the first few minutes of play did the Waterloo team threaten to do anything like winning work.

Three baskets right after the whistle blew to start the game were credited to Waterloo, but their first taste was short-lived. The Cardinals took the floor with a rush and piled up basket after basket in a manner which left no doubt as to the winner of the contest.

At the end of the first half the score stood twenty to eleven in favor of Janesville. In the last half the Waterloo players were allowed but two field goals while Janesville piled up thirteen baskets. The Cardinals played all around their opponents at every turn, Jones, Hemming and Cunningham, while Langdon and Green played effectively as guards.

Waterloo's defeat narrows the race for the state championship and gives Janesville a very good place in the final run. Other games will be scheduled as soon as possible and the local fans are promised several exhibitions of the best basketball work which has ever been seen in the city. The lineup and scores for Saturday were as follows:

JANESVILLE WATERLOO

Cunningham, R.P. Latchmeyer

Jones, L.E. Lester

Hemming, C. Conklin

Langdon, R.G. Sager

Green, L.G. Schultz

Field goals:—Jones 10; Hemming 4; Cunningham, 4; Langdon, 2; Lester, 3; Latchmeyer, 2; Sager, 1; Conklin, 1.

Free throws:—Latchmeyer, 1.

ROCKFORD VERSUS A

JANESVILLE RACER

Get Matched Against Bernie of This City in the Roller Races at Rink.

Tonight marks the opening of the three days roller racing to be held at the West Side Rink. Harley Davidson and his party of experts have all reached the city and the contest promises to be most spirited. An added feature is the race on Wednesday evening between Bernie, the local speedy boy on rollers and Getz of Rockford. This promises to add a local interest to the affair that will attract attention. Davidson will appear tonight at most of the ceremonies and will do some of the stunts he is famous for as well as some fast work. The purses, aggregating two hundred dollars, has attracted a fine bunch of rollers from Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Louis and fast time is expected.

Among those entered are Fred Martin of St. Paul; Fred Tyrell former amateur world's champion; Jesse Carey, European champion; Roland Clon, Italian champion; Lawrence Stender, state champion of Oklahoma; Jack Petch, Michigan state champion.

The floor has been especially prepared for the events and special arrangements have been completed for protecting all turns giving the racers ample room for their speed dashes. The races will be one, two and three mile events.

The lower city band will be in attendance adding interest to the affair which promises to exceed anything previously attempted at the rink.

NOTEWORTHY RECORD FOR VARSITY TEAMS

Wisconsin Has Lost Out Two Athletic Contests to Date This Year—Last Year in School's History.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 11.—By winning victories over Minnesota and Northwestern at basketball and aquatic, respectively, Saturday night, the Badger teams kept their records clean. It is worthy of note that Wisconsin has lost only two athletic contests with other conference colleges since the beginning of the present school year. These were the Chicago football game and the water polo game with Northwestern. In the history of sports at Wisconsin this record has never been equaled.

There have been winning football teams, but never has any Badger team, winning cross-country teams, and winning basketball teams, but never has any Badger team been on top in the same season. It is doubtful whether any other university has had a more successful year.

The athletic department is exerting its efforts to build up inter-class and inter-college athletics, with the idea of making stronger varsity teams by developing their material, and also to provide sport for the many and not for the few. Squads in gymnastics, wrestling, boxing and fencing are being drilled by Coaches McCaskey and Finley. Early next month they will be sent to represent Wisconsin in the intercollegiate.

The wrestling squad numbers about seventy, fencing about one hundred, and the "gym" track about twenty.

EDGERTON TEAM IS WINNER AT MILTON

Defeated College Second Team, 18 to 14, in Close Game Saturday Evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, March 11.—Edgerton high school won from the college second team here Saturday night by the score of 18 to 14. The game was fast and free from roughness. Edgerton played a good game. The work of their guards was fine.

The defeat of the college second team was due undoubtedly to the fact that they had broken training two weeks ago as they defeated Edgerton by a good score at Edgerton when they were in training. This was the last game of the season here this year. The college basketball team has been in several years.

In a game of basketball played between the C. V. C. club team and the third ward boys Saturday afternoon the former won by the score of 19 to 18.

The teams lined up as follows:

C. V. C.: Cassidy and McCue, forwards; Welch, center; Hogan guard.

Third ward: Flannery and H. Williams, forwards; Taylor, center; and C. Williams, guard.

Field baskets: Cassidy, 4; McCue, 4; Welch, 1; Taylor, 4; Flannery, 4; Free throws: Hogan, 1 and H. Williams, 2.

More to Be Remembered.

The man of now has much more excuse for making mistakes than did Julius Caesar or Alexander the Great. The world is bigger and there is more in it. There is more to be remembered. There are machines now in everyday use that would have given the Conqueror of Gaul a headache to have even looked at. There is enough complexity in a single business day to drive Alexander into a brain-race.

SIX DOCTORS FAIL TO CURE SUFFERER

MRS. K. QUANDT IS FINALLY CURED BY UNITED DOCTORS AFTER SIX DOCTORS IN ALL FAIL.

SICK NINE LONG YEARS.

Suffered Years With Stomach and Bowel Trouble Before Getting Relief.

Streator, Ills.—Mrs. K. Quandt of this city has given unusual praise to the United Doctors who have their Janesville Institute in the Hayes Bldg., corner of Milwaukee and Main Sts. Mrs. Quandt does a worthy action by making her experience public as other sufferers who are now hopeless will regain hope and know that they too are possibly curable in spite of years of futile doctoring. The following letter was written by Mrs. Quandt to the United Doctors regarding her case and is meant for publication.

"Dear Doctors.—After 'nine years' suffering from stomach and bowel trouble and having a miserable life from headaches and backaches, I tried your treatment with little hope of ever being well again as I had tried four ordinary doctors and two holy doctors without relief. I must truthfully say however, that with one month of your treatment I am feeling much better, can enjoy my meals and I am sure with a little more treatment I shall be cured altogether.

Very truly yours,

MRS. K. QUANDT.

The United Doctors treat diseases of the nerves, blood, kidneys, heart, liver, bladder, also rheumatism, neuralgia, colic, gall stones, blood poison, skin troubles, paralysis and cataplexy.

HAVE ENTERED NINE MORE CARS TO SHOW

Peter Goodman Will Exhibit One R. C. H. and Park Hotel Garage Will Show Eight Machines.

Additional entries of nine cars to the show at the rink, which opens Thursday of this week, were announced today by Thomas G. Murphy, secretary of the exhibition. The Goodman Livery company have entered one R. C. H. car and the Park hotel garage has entered eight machines—Coulter, Cadillac, Brush and Krig.

It is possible that several dealers will arrange to enter one or two cars more than they originally intended, owing to the fact that the interest in the show has considerably increased since first announced. It promises to be an unusual opportunity for the dealers to display their cars to best advantage and at the same time will be the best possible place for the prospect and purchaser to select his machine.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The area of high atmospheric pressure that was the source of the clear cold weather of the last few days has now moved eastward to the Atlantic coast where it is now accompanied by fair and continued cold weather.

A storm that formed on the southern California coast Saturday night has moved eastward over the southern Plateau region and is now advancing over the Rocky Mountain slope and the Plains toward the Mississippi valley. It is attended by snowfall in the Missouri valley, northern Plains and Rocky Mountain region, and by rainfall in the lower Mississippi valley, Texas and the southwestern states. As it approaches this vicinity heavy snowfall may be expected, with increasing southerly winds.

Another area of high atmospheric pressure has made its appearance in the Northwest, and will follow the storm now approaching from the southwest. It will cause brisk to high northwest winds and lower temperatures as it passes this vicinity on Tuesday.

Olympian Holdup.

Mars had mislaid his helmet and was getting irritable. "Confound it," he cried, "what's become of that hat?" "Perhaps Jove took it when he went out for a smoke," suggested Minerva. "Nothing of the sort," snarled Mars. "The old man wears a size 8 hat. That steel box of mine would break his neck. Where is my hat?" At that moment Ganymede in a brand new livery was seen approaching. In one hand he carried the missing helmet. The other hand was outstretched with the palm upmost. Mars stared at Ganymede and then at the helmet. "Jumping thunderbolts!" he roared. "Has the hat-thrust reached Olympus?" And rudely flinging a silver skeedaddle at the boy he snatched away the helmet and went clattering down the hall.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

So Look Out.

Just because the sentimental girl looks rapturously up at her lover and calls him "My king;" during their engagement, he must be surprised if she expects him to lift the ashes, and wipe the dishes, and bring up the coal, after they are married.

ALBERT BERRY READY TO START

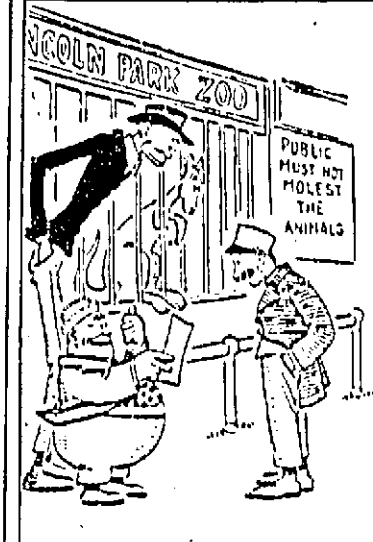

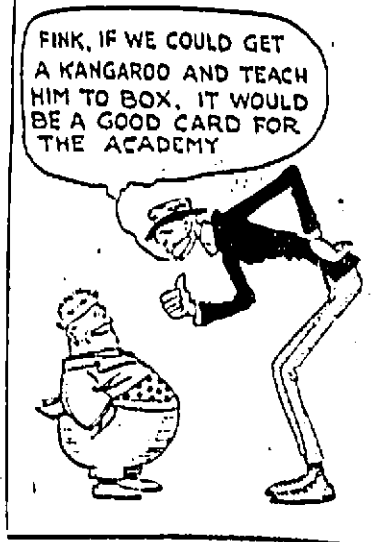

ANTHONY JANINUS

DROPS FROM AIRSHIP.

St. Louis.—Like Hans Pual's trip to the moon, Capt. Albert Berry dropped in the midst of a large assemblage of officers and soldiers at Jefferson Barracks yesterday afternoon, successfully performing for the first time a parachute drop from an airplane.

It was the first time such a performance was ever attempted, and its success was as pronounced as the hazard of the feat. Like an immense bird with its wings spread out, Capt. Berry glided over the parade grounds for a distance of 1,000 feet and then alighted about 300 feet from one of the mess halls.

The expedition was planned the previous night by Berry, Janinus, Tom Benoit, Frank M. Bell and the colony at Knoch Park. They decided to make the flight without any previous announcement, fearing that weather conditions, which had been against them for two weeks, might cause another disappointment.

NOTEWORTHY RECORD FOR VARSITY TEAMS

Wisconsin Has Lost Out Two Athletic Contests to Date This Year—Last Year in School's History.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 11.—By winning victories over Minnesota and Northwestern at basketball and aquatic, respectively, Saturday night, the Badger teams kept their records clean. It is worthy of note that Wisconsin has lost only two athletic contests with other conference colleges since the beginning of the present school year. These were the Chicago football game and the water polo game with Northwestern. In the history of sports at Wisconsin this record has never been equaled.

There have been winning football teams, but never has any Badger team, winning cross-country teams, and winning basketball teams, but never has any Badger team been on top in the same season. It is doubtful whether any other university has had a more successful year.

The athletic department is exerting its efforts to build up inter-class and inter-college athletics, with the idea of making stronger varsity teams by developing their material, and also to provide sport for the many and not for the few. Squads in gymnastics, wrestling, boxing and fencing are being drilled by Coaches McCaskey and Finley. Early next month they will be sent to represent Wisconsin in the intercollegiate.

The wrestling squad numbers about seventy, fencing about one hundred, and the "gym" track about twenty.

EDGERTON TEAM IS WINNER AT MILTON

Defeated College Second Team, 18 to 14, in Close Game Saturday Evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, March 11.—Edgerton high school won from the college second team here Saturday night by the score of 18 to 14. The game was fast and free from roughness. Edgerton played a good game. The work of their guards was fine.

The defeat of the college second team was due undoubtedly to the fact that they had broken training two weeks ago as they defeated Edgerton by a good score at Edgerton when they were in training. This was the last game of the season here this year. The college basketball team has been in several years.

There is enough complexity in a single business day to drive Alexander into a brain-race.

SIX DOCTORS FAIL TO CURE SUFFERER

MRS. K. QUANDT IS FINALLY CURED BY UNITED DOCTORS AFTER SIX DOCTORS IN ALL FAIL.

SICK NINE LONG YEARS.

Suffered Years With Stomach and Bowel Trouble Before Getting Relief.

Streator, Ills.—Mrs. K. Quandt of this city has given unusual praise to the United Doctors who have their Janesville Institute in the Hayes Bldg., corner of Milwaukee and Main Sts. Mrs. Quandt does a worthy action by making her experience public as other sufferers who are now hopeless will regain hope and know that they too are possibly curable in spite of years of futile doctoring. The following letter was written by Mrs. Quandt to the United Doctors regarding her case and is meant for publication.

"Dear Doctors.—After 'nine years' suffering from stomach and bowel trouble and having a miserable life from headaches and backaches, I tried your treatment with little hope of ever being well again as I had tried four ordinary doctors and two holy doctors without relief. I must truthfully say however, that with one month of your treatment I am feeling much better, can enjoy my meals and I am sure with a little more treatment I shall be cured altogether.

Very truly yours,

MRS. K. QUANDT.

The United Doctors treat diseases of the nerves, blood, kidneys, heart, liver, bladder, also rheumatism, neuralgia, colic, gall stones, blood poison, skin troubles, paralysis and cataplexy.

HAVE ENTERED NINE MORE CARS TO SHOW

Peter Goodman Will Exhibit One R. C. H. and Park Hotel Garage Will Show Eight Machines.

Additional entries of nine cars to the show at the rink, which opens Thursday of this week, were announced today by Thomas G. Murphy, secretary of the exhibition. The Goodman Livery company have entered one R. C. H. car and the Park hotel garage has entered eight machines—Coulter, Cadillac, Brush and Krig.

It is possible that several dealers will arrange to enter one or two cars more than they originally intended, owing to the fact that the interest in the show has considerably increased since first announced. It promises to be an unusual opportunity for the dealers to display their cars to best advantage and at the same time will be the best possible place for the prospect and purchaser to select his machine.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The area of high atmospheric pressure that was the source of the clear cold weather of the last few days has now moved eastward to the Atlantic coast where it is now accompanied by fair and continued cold weather.

A storm that formed on the southern California coast Saturday night has moved eastward over the southern Plateau region and is now advancing over the Rocky Mountain slope and the Plains toward the Mississippi valley. It is attended by snowfall in the Missouri valley, northern Plains and Rocky Mountain region, and by rainfall in the lower Mississippi valley, Texas and the southwestern states. As it approaches this vicinity heavy snowfall may be expected, with increasing southerly winds.

Another area of high atmospheric pressure has made its appearance in the Northwest, and will follow the storm now approaching from the southwest. It will cause brisk to high northwest winds and lower temperatures as it passes this vicinity on Tuesday.

Notary Public.
My commission expires July 12, 1914.

SOME REAL FACTS.

Real facts regarding the result of the recent reassessment, the truth of which has been seriously damaged by the juggling of "ambitious politicians," might well be brought into print. We are told the evaluation of the property of the city has been increased some five million dollars. We are informed that the tax-dodging corporations have been forced to pay up their just and equitable share of the city's taxes. We have been informed that the rich will pay the taxes and the more humble property owners will pay less. In truth, nothing can be farther from the real facts of the case.

True, the city's assessment has been increased over five millions, but who pays the difference? Two million dollars of this increase is in personal property. Now stop and consider this point. Personal property? That means stocks, bonds, mortgages, household furniture, the savings of a lifetime. It has been the custom of the city to sell its civic bonds, paying four per cent interest, in small lots. For the most part these are owned by persons who have saved a few hundred dollars and wanted a safe investment for their declining years. Men who have worked hard for their money. Widows who had a bit of life insurance left them; women who work. They were told the city would not assess these bonds and until the recent reassessment the city assessors have kept faith with the purchasers.

What is the condition now? The state came in and made the reassessment. They recognized no promise on the part of the city to evade the taxation laws and not assess a tax on these bonds and they have every one of these bonds, with the proper owners, assessed. Do you small bondholders understand what this means? Do you know that you must pay the city a tax on the bonds that they pay interest to you on for having loaned them your money when they needed it? Do you realize that this tax will bring your rate of interest down to less than two per cent per annum?

Do you know that the rate of taxation that you must pay is approximately $18.93 per thousand? Have you figured this out for yourself? True, you bought them with the understanding they were not to be taxed, but it was only a verbal agreement, and not one the city or the city fathers could make under the law. They kept faith with you. They would have kept faith with you but the matter was taken out of their hands. To suit the caprice of an ambitious young man the state made a reassessment of the city and you must suffer. Not your rich neighbor, who has heavy financial interests in other parts of the country. Who has invested thousands where you have invested hundreds, but the small property owner, the small saver of the city's efforts. Is this the work of a friend of the people?

You have been told the big interests will pay the taxes. Did you know that in the reassessment of the taxes for 1911 that the city must pay back the sum of fourteen hundred dollars to the Gas company? Did you know that the four banks, the Water company and other interests all will receive substantial rebates owing to the fact the state assessors discovered some two million dollars' worth of personal property, the bonds of the small owners, the deposits in the savings banks, which draw but three per cent interest, the small investments of the workers, hitherto not taxed, which increased the city's assessment to such an extent that the reassessment makes you pay more and the big interests pay less?

Did the disciples for the "Square Deal Advocate" put that in the campaign document thrown about the city? No! You find no mention of it in any part of the two issues thus far published. You can not find anything in it that will state the taxes will not be any less in 1912 than in 1911 because it can not be so. This reassessment has brought to light a lot of property hitherto not assessed, that should have been, but it could all have been listed had the very member of the board of review, who filed the complaint with the state, done the duty he was sworn to do and not sought political capital. At the same time the local assessors would have protected your personal interests and not be guided by the great cry of the tax commission, "Go out and get the money."

TAFT'S PLEDGE.

In his Chicago address, Saturday night, President Taft made the following explicit pledge to the American people that is worth reading and carefully digesting. He said in part: "I distrust of popular government! The pride that I have that this is a popular government and that it has shown itself the strongest in history, is as deeply imbedded as any feeling that is in me. I would be the last man to exclude from the direction of the ship of state the will of the American people. That is the ultimate source of authority, and it does not in any way minimize my faith and my love of popular government that I insist that the expression of that popular will shall be with the deliberation to make it safe and sound. I fully and freely admit and assert that when the American people have had time to learn all the facts and have had time to consider their bearing, their deliberate judgment is a wiser and better guide to be followed by the state than the judgment of the most experienced statesmen, the most learned jurists, the most profound student in history. In this proper sense the voice of the people is nearer to the voice of God than any other human decision."

This is good common sense and can be approved by all classes of citizens regardless of previous condition of political servitude. Read it over again and then consider who will be your choice for the presidential nominee. The "rough-riding" type, chanceable as the wind, or the good, solid, stable form of government?

THE COUNCIL'S ACTION.

In bringing the matter of the investigation of the fire of February 12th to the attention of the fire and police commission, the council, at their session last Friday evening, made a move in the right direction. There has been so much discussion on this subject, pro and con, that it is time the whole matter was aired. The destruction of a hundred thousand dollar industry is something the city can ill afford. If the fire department has not enough men, not enough equipment to fight fires of such a nature, they should be given what they need. A good fire department is an asset to any city and it is false policy to lack either men or equipment. It is to be hoped the fire and police commission will go to the bottom most thoroughly and that their report will set at rest the talk that has been prevalent ever since the destruction of the Bassett and Eshlin factory.

THE RE-INCARCERATION JOKE.

Should the spirit of the "Humble Italian" really return to earth to mock those who shun him at the so-called "re-incarceration" which has been injected into the present municipal campaign. It is a question which the wrong shade has not been invoked and that of Ananias was not really meant. However, clairvoyance is often liable to mistakes and can not always be relied upon for actual facts.

George Croft is the "Home Daws" candidate's alternate in the first congressional district, while J. J. Cunningham is the alternate from the same district to be voted for on the Wilson ticket. Both are democrats and the fun is just beginning, for the Harmon men have not yet named their delegates.

Does anyone doubt the equality of the ground hog now after the past six weeks of solid winter weather? If he does why he should be made to stay out next year by the ground hog's winter quarters for the express purpose of clubbing him the moment he shows up if the day is bright.

It is a question whether spring is here despite the fact the "book boer" signs and the "little German band" made their appearance last Saturday. If spring is here the thermometer does not know about it yet and should be politely informed.

The ice man wonders when he is going to get a chance to put his hand into the average householder's pocketbook. The coal man appears to want to get a hot full every time he reaches in.

It would appear as though Mr. Leinro and Senator La Follette had a serious falling out, in view of the fact that Leinro withdraws from his ticket.

In all this excitement about local politics the fact that at the April election delegates for both the republican and democratic national conventions are to be voted for appears to be forgotten.

ON A PURSUE THE MOMENT

ADAM.

Take off your hat to Adam for he was a lucky man.

He never had to eat stale fruit out of an old tin can.

He simply had to sit dead still.

The fruit fell from the trees.

Whence the garden was bestirred by any vagrant breeze.

Old Adam never had to dodge the sixty-horse power car.

There was no bill collector there, his joy in life to mar.

He never had to listen to a lot of argument.

About the men who wanted to become the president.

He had no fear of microbes for they camped not on his trail.

The law never worried him a bit because there was no jail.

He owed no tailor's bill because he didn't dote on style.

The cost of living was a joke at which he would could smile.

He worried not about the trusts nor yet the power of wealth.

There never was a single thing the matter with his health.

He had no furnace fire to stoke and no hard coal to buy.

The climate in the garden was as balmy as July.

There was no squeaking phonograph to interrupt his sleep.

There were no hush-ship quartets to sing "Down in the Deep."

No canvassers for books dropped in to occupy his time.

Old Adam must have led a life that simply was sublime.

DIPPED FROM THE STREAM.

Twelve billion postage stamps were sold in the United States last year.

It would be interesting to know how many of them carried darning letters.

George W. Perkins says $10,000 a year man are scarce, and it might be added that even some of these find it difficult to get $10,000 a year job.

T. H. declares they shall not exile him to Europe, and Washington is believed to be his favorite city.

It sometimes seems as though there are too many letters in Col. Gurney's name and that it should be just plain Col. Gurn.

Nick Longworth says he is proud of his father-in-law. It is dreadful to think of what would happen to him if he were not.

Andrew Carnegie says he never plays poker. Then there can't be anything in all this talk about Andy wanting to the poor.

They gave a New York rhinoceros a quart of whiskey to stop a cold and it did. It also stopped the rhinoceros.

FROM THE HICKEYVILLE CLARION.

There was a sad accident at the postoffice the other day. Postmaster Hickey was writing a darning letter to a friend of his who had owed him a bill for nine years and he upset the ink bottle and the ink ran down all over the stamps and cancelled about $4 worth of two and $3 worth of ones. The bill Hickey was trying to collect only amounted to $1.98.

Am Perkins, our popular and congenial consular artist, has sent away for a new razor and in the meantime the long sea and otto of this town are going around with whiskers several inches long, waiting for shaves.

The cook at the fluted borrowed his former razor to open a can of asparagus for a high toned banquet and broke it in two. Am, who is quite a joker, says in the future he is going to have a lot of shaves all done and wrapped up so he can hand 'em out to his regular customers on emergency of this kind.

A milliner's smile is only skin deep. Hank Friday is a man of regular habits. He smokes two packages of "Pride of the Gravel Train" every day and plays tank in the back room of the drug store until 11 o'clock every night and then goes home and puts his clothes to bed and hangs himself up in the wardrobe.

During the recent cold snap, Am

Hilker closed up his general store and went over to the depot to keep warm at the expense of the railroad company.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

POWER.

Be patient.

If you are patient you will have but little competition, because so few persons practice that virtue. You almost may have a monopoly.

Be self-poled.

You will have but little rivalry here also, because so many persons get off their balance. You almost could form a trust of the well balanced, rightly poised. And—

If you have both poise and patience you will have what every one is looking for—

Power.

If you are patient and poised you will be generous and kind to all, to the deserving and also as well as to the undeserving and foolish.

You cannot be kind and patient to all unless you are self forgetful, unselfish. If you are self forgetful and generous you will be both patient and kind.

See how the circle goes?

Now, there is this about power—it goes to him who can properly use it. And the greatest power in all the universe is love, and he who is poised and patient and kind will have that tremendous power.

How to get it?

Are you to struggle and strain after it, grasp for it? If you do that you will be doing what so many are doing, and you will have competition. And if you strain and strive you are likely to lose both poise and patience.

Again it is the circle.

How then?

Think only goodness and all good things will come to you and radiate from you. You will be a center of love and kindness. You will be the natural expression of kindness and goodness.

And—

If that be true you will not need to rush hither and yon in order to find a chance to do good. It will be all about you. Think goodness and you will practice it. Think goodness and kindness and helpfulness will finally become the fixed habits of your life.

And evil?

You will have no use for it. So far as you are concerned evil will not exist. Evil is negation. It will be negated into the affirmative, powerful good.

Pre-empt yourself. Think only good thoughts.

Think good thoughts and you will have power in your life. Power to abundant life. And patience and poise are its ministers.

Not Her Job.

Mr. Exe—What? Another how drows? Perhaps you will tell me, madam, how I shall get the money to pay for it.

Mrs. Exe—You must excuse me. I am your wife, not your financial adviser.—Boston Transcript.

Interesting to Astronomers.

No way has been yet found in which the sun's corona with its unknown gases may be properly studied except during a total eclipse. The wonderful halo that the sun wears is one of the most interesting objects in the heavens to astronomers, and it is important to know all that can be known about these strange lights that shoot out millions of miles beyond the sun.

Fortune in Stamp Collection.

A lady living in Sydney for many years has hoarded a collection of postal stamps left by her father, who had pursued his hobby of collecting for 50 years. The daughter was ignorant of any knowledge of philately and threw the stamps into an old trunk. Last week she visited a stamp exhibition, and for the first time awoke to the value of the stamps in her possession. She secured the assistance of experts, who estimate the value of the collection at $100,000.

Beliefs About Lightning.

There is a popular tradition that lightning will not kill any one who is asleep. According to one school, the splinters of a tree struck by lightning are an infallible specific for the toothache. An amusing superstition used to be cherished by the boys of a Yorkshire (Eng.) village, who believed that if they mentioned the lightning immediately after a flash the sent of their trousers would be torn out. No boy could be induced to make the experiment.

John W. Peters, a Successful Business Man, is Well Equipped for Mayor's Office—His Experiences Are Varied and Broad.

Paid advertisement; amount paid for each insertion, $0.00

A few facts about the life and business career of John W. Peters, whose announcement as candidate for mayor on a strong platform has excited much interest, will be read with more than the usual amount of attention and should be public property.

Mr. Peters has lived in Janesville practically all of his life. As a young man he followed his natural inclination and took up masonry and general building contract work, his first contract being for the Janesville Cotton Company in the erection of a wheel pit which still stands on the old race way at the rear of the building used by the Janesville Paper Box Company.

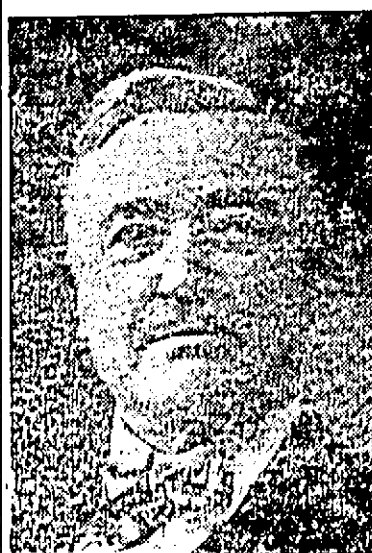

He was for fifteen years connected with the engineering department of

The Hayes Brothers company, recognized in Mr. Peters a man of unusual ability and they therefore became associated with him in the erection of the power house, locks and dams on the Chicago drainage canal work at Lockport. This single piece of work amounted to $1,500,000.

Within the last three and one-half years the mammoth government irrigation dam at Belle Fourche, South Dakota, a five million dollar project, on which a number of contracting failures had been made, was undertaken by the Hayes Brothers company and Mr. Peters and the successful completion of the work was a success over two million dollars being involved in this job.

The Hayes Brothers company and Mr. Peters found the work in a bankrupt condition at the time they took hold of the proposition, but put it on a paying basis in thirty days. The company found a big strike on hand and every other obstruction to the smooth handling of the work. However, the dam was finished in the specified time and is one of the engineering marvels of the world. In fact, it is the largest earthen dam in the world.

Mr. Peters has had the broadest kind of training and experience in the handling of men and in carrying on big work. This fits him splendidly for the work of looking after the city's interests, in a practical way. The matter of building of bridges and the inspection thereof, the building and repairs of streets, the knowledge of proper material and use of when those materials are properly placed, all of these things and many others are of much importance to the taxpayer and property owner, and in Mr. Peters is found a man of executive ability, an organizer of unusual experience and a successful business man.

JOHN W. PETERS

Mr. Peters' Announcement and Platform.

At the request of many friends I have decided to announce myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor at the primary election to be held March 19, 1912.

It is due the voters and tax payers to know what I stand for, and what I will attempt to do in accomplishing if elected.

First, I believe in a conservative, economical business administration where every dollar expended represents a dollar in value.

Second, I believe in the impartial enforcement of law without favor or prejudice and that no line of business should be exempt.

Third, I believe that the number of saloons in Janesville makes it necessary for the man engaged in the business to report in all sorts of devices to make a living. The number should be reduced and the men that are licensed should understand that offenses will not be tolerated. They the law or forfeit the license.

Fourth, the city is polluted with games and gambling houses with slot machines and other devices which ruin our boys and young men. These conditions should not exist and they need not.

I believe that my experience for the past 35 years with men and affairs, qualifies me to render the city, which has long been my home, efficient service. I ask your support at the polls.

JOHN W. PETERS.

Marvelous Merchandise Moving.

Each year finds every person engaged in thoughts of refurnishing either their wardrobe or their house. The day of this refurnishing is here. A million workers at loom and wheel, in factory or shop are depending on your obedience to your desires. Your gratification of these desires adds to the prosperity of the nation and adds its power to the wheel of progress. The amount of merchandise moved by this store every year would be marvelous. Indeed were it not that people have grown accustomed to it. For let but a rising of the sun, let but a creation of the world happen twice and it ceases to be marvelous. Yet a walk through the store showed reveals many, many good things, never even mention to the public. Each year finds us better able to supply your needs than the preceding one. That is as it should be. When it ceases to be so, it will not be The Big Store.

COMMON SENSE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism has for ages been a puzzle to the doctors. Some claim it to be an infection, a germ disease. Others claim that the cause is acid, a kidney disease. It is said that uric acid is carried by the blood into the small appliances of the joints and skin where it crystallizes and that is the sharp, sharp crystals that cause intense pain with every motion of the body by cutting into the flesh and nerves. Whatever the cause, the best relief known is an Alkaline Elizer of the Sallcyates. The chemical nature of the Sallcyates is to form soluble compounds with the urates. In this way these crystals are dissolved, taken up by the blood and taken out of the body by the kidneys. This rheumatic elizer is taken in teaspoonful doses in hot water before meals. The cure is often in a day or two, yet the remedy should be taken for some time to thoroughly neutralize the blood and prevent a recurrence of the trouble. The elimination, as the doctors would say, that is the kidneys and the bowels, should be kept active. Rheumatic Elizer is compounded by Mr. Pennig, our chemist pharmacist and chemist, who would be pleased to give you any other information you wish. Sold at 50c. BOATHOUSE LOOTERS CONFESS TO THEFTS BROKE INTO OFFICE

William Wheelock Admits Robberies.
—Broke into Office at Sand Pit
Yesterday—Committed to Waukesha School.

Doubt as to the identity of the thieves who have been looting boat-houses on the upper river was substantially cleared away this morning when William Wheelock, a minor, sixteen years old, confessed to two of the thefts. He also admitted breaking into the office of Grant Fisher at the sand pit near the Huhb brewery yesterday afternoon. On the complaint of Chief of Police Appleby and as the result of a hearing before Judge Field, Wheelock was committed to the state industrial school for boys at Waukesha.

Wheelock, with three other boys, Bradley Lawrence, Elmer Rodgers and Arthur Van Tomme, were placed under arrest this morning to give an account of the breaking into the sand pit office and while in police custody Wheelock confessed to that offense and also to forcing an entrance into two boat houses and stealing a steel fishpole, a split bamboo pole and a reel. These were found and recovered from his home by Policeman Manning. Wheelock was the only one to go into the office at the sand pit, gaining an entrance by breaking the glass out of a window with a cracked pane. He broke open the cash drawer but found no money in it. While he was making the building one of the other boys warned him that Shirley Fisher, son of the proprietor, was coming and he hurried away with them, but not before their identity had been learned by Fisher.

Companions Testify.
Lawrence and Rodgers were called to the stand to testify as to their knowledge of Wheelock. Lawrence said he was with him last week when he broke into a boat house and took the steel pole, but that he did not know where he took it. He also accompanied him when he entered another and took the fishpole pole. Rodgers had no knowledge of the breaking into the sand pit office but did not know what it was. He had been with him when they broke into a boat house two or three weeks ago. They had taken out a hatchet, two saws, and an auger and sawed themselves by boring and sawing holes in the ice. A deck of cards was also included in the spoils.

Hearing Tomorrow.
On the request of Chief of Police Appleby, the Lawrence, Rodgers and Van Tomme boys were left in the custody of their parents with instructions that they appear in court for a hearing at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Van Tomme, who appears to be the youngest of the other boys, is not known to have any part in their escapades. He has been in the city but three months.

Has Bad Record.
Wheelock, with another boy, was sentenced to the industrial school May 11, of last year, but sentence was suspended pending future good behavior. Since that time many complaints, a number of which were found justified, have been made against him to the police. Chief Appleby, who was called to the stand, declared that from the experience he had had with him that commitment was the best thing that could be done for him. Wheelock had nothing to say in his defense. Judge Field, in passing sentence upon him, warned him that unless he changed his ways he was headed for the reformatory and state prison, but that if he straightened up, and behaved, he would be given a fair measure of liberty at the industrial school.

MATRIMONIAL.

Jaeger-Bienash.

Miss Elsie A. Jaeger and Herman Bienash were wedded at the Lutheran church in Center last Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. Miss Annie Jaeger, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Arthur C. Bienash, brother of the groom, attended the groom. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white mesaline and carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white mesaline and carried white and pink carnations. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the bride's home and reception and dance was held in the evening. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bienash will be at home on the groom's father-in-law's home.

Among those from away who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Winkler, Mrs. C. Winkler and son, Wm., and Mrs. J. B. B. and family, all of Columbus, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. B. and Mrs. M. H. B. and family, all of Chicago, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. B. and family, all of Janesville.

MONEY STOLEN LAST FALL IS RETURNED

Shoplifter Woman Who Lost $36 At Gathering Last October Has Money Returned in Letter.

Thirty-six dollars lost or stolen at a gathering in Shoplifter last fall from Mrs. D. F. Culver has been returned to her by letter from an unknown party who failed to enclose any note of explanation. It was evidently "conscience money" pure and simple. Last October Mrs. Culver attended a Royal Neighbors' jubilee meeting in Shoplifter and while she was there she had her handbag, containing $36 stolen. She made wide inquiry but nothing was learned and who proceeded to forget the incident as soon as she could. Friday when the mailman left Mrs. Culver's mail box found a letter. Opening it she took out a $20, a $10 and a $1 bill—exact sum stolen from her last fall. There was no note in the letter to explain the presence of the money and Mrs. Culver does not know where it was mailed as the postmark is illegible. She believes it was mailed from a train, however.

MRS. AZEL C. HOUGH DIED ON SATURDAY

Passed Away After a Brief Illness.
Funeral Services Will be Held on Tuesday.

News of the death of Mrs. Azel C. Hough on Saturday evening last, comes as a distinct shock to her many friends in Janesville. Few knew of her serious illness, which was but of a few days' duration, nor the anxiety felt for her life after pneumonia made its appearance, and the services of specialists, trained nurses, and all that a loving husband and relatives could do seemed unavailing.

The end came after a most heroic fight against death and the beautiful spirit went to the world beyond as though simply sinking into sleep to awake in another world. Surrounded by a loving husband, her father and brother, who had been summoned from the East, the Angel of Death came shortly before nine o'clock on Saturday evening, leaving sorrowing relatives to weep the departed.

Mrs. Harriet Viole Hough was born at Butler, New York state, in 1873, on the estate that was founded by her grandfather, Jacob Viole, in 1818. Here she grew to womanhood, spending but few years away from the old ancestral home during her school life. On the last day of the old year, December 31, 1902, she was united in marriage to Azel C. Hough of this city, and after a brief wedding trip, moved directly to Janesville, which city has been her home since.

Mrs. Hough was a woman of rare qualities. She was a loving wife, a true friend, and her circle of acquaintances and intimate friends makes a list coming here, will sadly miss her presence at their gatherings. She was a true Christian and a most devoted church woman. Her noble character has endeared her to all who have come in contact with her and in her death the spirit of a beautiful woman has gone to the world beyond to await those whom she has left to mourn her loss on earth.

The funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon from her late residence, 160 St. Lawrence avenue. Rev. David Benton of the Congregational church, officiating. The interment will be at Oak Hill cemetery. The services at the house will be at three o'clock. Besides her loving husband, she is survived by a father, Leola H. Viole, and a brother, Charles W. Viole, of Butler, Pennsylvania.

THREE MONROE MEN CONFESS TO ROBBERY

Admit Holding Up Manager George
Erwin of Cardinal Basketball
Team on February 23.

Three Monroe men—Hort Isley, Charles T. Nance, and Claude Eley, confessed in writing Saturday night to holding up and robbing George E. Erwin, manager of the Cardinal club basketball team of the sum of $71 early in the morning of February 23, last, after a three hours' sweating by E. J. Hahn, a Chicago detective, who went to Monroe last Friday. Isley implicated the other two men who admitted their guilt after being closely questioned. All were sent to jail but were released on bail today.

The actual robbery was done by Isley and Eley, who hit Erwin with a revolver handle while Nance stood guard a block distant. They hid the money under a walk where Nance was to get it later, but it was found the next day by Street Commissioner W. A. Nance, the father of the robber, who turned it over to the police. Isley is a cement contractor and the son of a trustee of the Monroe Methodist church. Both Isley and Nance have been in good standing there.

BISHOP WEBB GAVE A STRONG SERMON

PREACHED AT CHRIST EPISCO-PAL CHURCH AT THE MORN-ING SERVICE.

CLASS WAS CONFIRMED

Episcopal Divine Took His Text From the Acts—Showed the Cause For Relief.

Bishop W. W. Webb, spiritual head of the Milwaukee Diocese of the Episcopal church, preached a strong sermon at Christ church Sunday morning following the confirmation services of the class prepared for the ritual by Reverend John McKinney, the pastor. As a prelude to his sermon proper, Bishop Webb urged upon his listeners to study more of the church history.

He told of extremely interesting news relative to the present crisis in China, which is not found in the news dispatches of that troublesome republic. The Episcopal colleges in that country are the largest located there and when the leading republicans met to decide upon the popular fate of the Manchurian church, Bishop Webb stated that he was opposed to the death sentences being imposed as he was a Christian and did not believe in punishment of his political enemies.

Struggle to say when a vote was taken by the assembly, or committee which was to decide this question two thirds of the delegates were Christians and voted with the chairman, thus permitting the Manchus to retire and not be beheaded as originally planned. This was part of the church work in foreign mission that had accomplished it and the Bishop urged all members of the Episcopal faith to subscribe for a church paper that they might keep in touch with the situation the world over.

Bishop Webb also asked his hearers to consider the two church schools in this diocese. The Racine Grammar School for boys and Kemper Hall for girls, as a possible educational center for their children when they planned to send them away to school.

For his text the Bishop took the 8th verse of the chapter of the Acts which was especially appropriate to the confirmation service just performed. "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

The Bishop then dwelt upon the Holy Ghost, and what it meant to mankind. The spiritual trinity, the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, all linked as one. That Christ is the only one of the Trinity that has appeared to man, the Holy Ghost being described as the flame of fire that hovered over the heads of the Apostles when on the mount.

The Holy Ghost is the sign of God's approval of man, resolved upon confirmation, symbolizing the laying on of the hands of the Bishop, performing the ceremony. It is not a visible sign but a spiritual one.

With the receiving of the Holy Ghost the Apostles were given power to go into far lands to preach the word of God to the nations of the world. He also told a bit of the history of the Bible itself and how many centuries it was before it was finally gathered together into one volume in the shape it now is. How parts of this volume were not written until centuries after Christ's coming to the earth and in the meantime the work of the teaching of Christianity in the modern day sense had been continued through the agency of the devout men who followed the teachings of Christ and the leadership of those who believed in the presence of the Holy Ghost.

Bishop Webb was the guest of Reverend John McKinney and his wife during his stay in the city, returning to Milwaukee Sunday afternoon.

SOCIALISTS STAND UPON THEIR RECORD

Party in Milwaukee Will Wage Campaign With Accomplishments
As Their Chief Issue—
Socialist Claims.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11.—The Socialists are forming for the hottest political fight in Milwaukee's municipal history. Tomorrow will be the first day of registration for the coming municipal election. The primaries will be held on March 19, on March 26 the voters will have their last opportunity to register and on April 2, the election is to be held.

The record of the election will be watched with great interest throughout the country, for it will definitely settle the question whether the citizens of Milwaukee were satisfied with their present administration, the first Socialist government of the city in its history. The Socialist administration, headed by Mayor Emil Seldel, is in the field for reelection and bases its claim to the support of the citizens upon the record of the administration during the past two years. The reelection of Mayor Seldel will mean the practical endorsement of the record of the Socialist administration and will, it is believed, greatly strengthen the Socialist party in other parts of the state.

Mayor Seldel is of the opinion that the record of his administration speaks for itself and that the citizens have every reason to be well satisfied with it. In an interview he referred to the progress of the city's public works, the result of the election of a Socialist administration; yet, he said, none of these predictions came true. The administration found the city government with a $216,000 deficit, and finished its first term with a surplus.

He pointed to the fact that, in spite of the opposition of old party politicians in the council, in the State legislature and even in the courts, his administration has built the first public library in the city; is constructing a municipal stone quarry; building a consolidated fire and police alarm system; is establishing a city telephone service, and is steadily demanding and working for the public ownership of all local public utilities. The Mayor takes his strongest hopes upon the municipal ownership plank in his platform.

The Socialists claim on behalf of the present administration that it was thoroughly honest and made every effort to eliminate graft and corruption from every municipal department. Early in office, it is claimed, the Socialists uncovered and stopped a long standing paving graft. The cost of paving was thereby reduced from $2.25 and $2.50 to $1.20 and $1.40 per square yard, which alone saved the city more than $400,000 in 1911. It is also claimed that under the present administration the wage of the common laborer in city employ has been increased from $1.75 to $2.00 for an eight-hour day, while the regular union scale is paid all skilled workmen and, if obtainable, only materials made by union labor were purchased by the city.

The Socialists also point with pride to the city's system of factory inspection and to the inauguration of various reforms intended to protect the health of young men and women; to combat the spread of tuberculosis; to relieve the unemployed; to bring about an improvement of the city's harbor and the establishment of public garden patches, model tenements and municipal market places.

Chimney Sweeps Wear Top Hats.
There are some strange things to be seen in Switzerland, but nothing stranger than the chimney sweeps, who, curiously enough, are the only people in the country who wear top hats. The silk hat—usually of respectable quality—is, for some inexplicable reason, the recognized headgear of the chimney cleaner in Switzerland, and he would probably feel as unprofessional without it as a policeman without his helmet or a mailman without his flat cap.—Wide World Magazine.

A Husband's Pledge.
A wealthy middle-aged divorcee who married a good looking and companionable young fellow, penniless himself, is said to have exacted from him, as part of the marriage contract, the pledge that he would spend every evening of his life with her. They were fortunate theatergoers until his death, which seems to corroborate the curious story. Many women would like to have the same power of keeping their husbands at home.—New York Press.

Stylish Bookmarks.
A woman who reads a great deal and who always keeps two or three books going at the same time, hit upon the notion of using fashion paper ladies for bookmarks, the modish little personages being clipped from a fashion magazine that uses a heavy cream paper for its pages. The idea proved an successful that now she makes paper doll bookmarks for her friends, providing each little paper lady with a back of white cardboard and sometimes touching up the figures with transparent photograph colors.

New Knowledge Used.
One day Barrett, who stores up every big word he hears for future use, asked me the meaning of the word "elaborate." I told him it meant "finery." A few days later his baby brother was crying, and he said, "Mother, Keith is an awfully elaborate baby, isn't he?"

Fear Well Founded.
"I fear," sadly said the postage stamp, when it found itself fastened to a love letter, "that I am not sticking to facts."

ANNOUNCEMENT.
Paid advertisement; amount paid, $1.00 each insertion.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Mayor of the City of Janesville, at the coming primaries to be held on the 19th day of March, 1912.

To the Citizens of Janesville:
Realizing the responsibility of the office I am about to seek and fully conscious of the duties of said office, and with a full belief that I could bring to said office a knowledge gained by long experience in the municipal affairs of our city, which would be of material benefit to the taxpayers and citizens in general, and particularly, now that we are about to enter upon a new form of government.

Therefore I seek the nomination and election to the office of Mayor. Should I be entrusted with the honorable and important duties of said office, I can only promise, to the best of my ability, an honest, economical, industrious and faithful administration of its duties in a plain, business-like manner. Soliciting the support of my fellow citizens and submitting my past public record to stand in judgment of my future actions, I am,
Yours truly,

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for commissioner at the coming primary election and solicit the support of the voters.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Paid advertisement; amount paid, $1.25 each insertion.

1. I have been a resident of Janesville for 15 years and during all of that time I have been engaged in business.

2. Having made a success of my private business I feel warranted in presenting myself to the consideration of the voters.

3. If elected a commissioner I will dispose of my private business and devote both my time and attention to the affairs of the city. I will have no divided interest.

4. My platform is simply a pledge to the citizens of Janesville that if elected I will strive to give this city a decent business like administration of its affairs both commercial and governmental.

5. I have made no pledges, nor promises to any interest and if elected will be free to act honestly in behalf of the whole city.

6. I have no pet notions to work out. I prefer to meet the problems as they arise in a spirit of justice and with an eye single to the best interests of the whole city. I've noticed in the past that many candidates full of promise have fallen short in performance. My only promise is to do the work of this office honestly and in all respects to the best of my ability.
WILLIAM T. FLAHERTY.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Paid Advertisement; amount paid for each insertion, $1.25.

At the request of many friends I have decided to announce myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor at the primary election to be held March 19, 1912.

It is due the voters and tax payers to know what I stand for, and what I will attempt to do in accomplishing if elected.

First, I believe in a conservative, economical business administration where every dollar expended represents a dollar in value.

Second, I believe in the impartial enforcement of law without fear or favor and that no line of business should be exempt.

Third, I believe that the number of saloons in Janesville makes it necessary for the men engaged in the business to resort to all sorts of devices to make a living. The number should be reduced and the men that are licensed should understand that offenses will not be tolerated. Obey the law or forfeit the license.

Fourth, the city is polluted with dives and gambling houses, with slot machines and other devices which ruin our boys and young men. These conditions should not exist and they need not.

I believe that my experience for the past 35 years, with many hard affairs, qualifies me to render the city, which has long been my home, efficient service. I ask your support at the polls.

STATE POLITICS ON HEATING OVEN NOW

Will Be Ready to Begin Operations
After the April Primaries if
Is Expected.

With the special session of the legislature almost assured for the early spring the selection of delegates to the national party conventions scheduled for the April elections, state politics are expected to pick up considerably within the next few weeks. In fact already there have been several rumormongers going on which may evidence a hostile time of it later on.

With Rock county Senatorial district now united with Walworth county the question of a successor to Senator John M. Whitehead is going to take some picking to select. The ultra-right end of the Republican party have already jumped into the field with two candidates, L. E. Gottlieb of Edgerton and L. E. Cunningham of Beloit, and both men are laying their plans to capture enough votes in the September primary to get on the official ballot.

J. N. Chamberlain of Beloit is also an aspirant for the office. It will be remembered that Mr. Chamberlain made the run against Senator Whitehead four years ago and proved an antagonist of "caliber" at that time. By some it is believed that in view of the fact he was a candidate then he should have a clear field this time but the appearance of both Gottlieb and Cunningham in the race means it will not be unanimous.

It is almost certain that there will be a fourth candidate in the field and several men are mentioned as possibilities in the race. Grant C. Fisher, present assemblyman from the old Janesville district is thought would be reciprocal to the efforts of friends in his behalf and not adverse to making the race. There is also talk of a well known conservative candidate being brought out after a conference among the conservatives later in the spring.

These are all Rock county men and it is certain that in the race there will be a four or five cornered affair with Walworth will come out with a candidate, which

WESCOTT MOTOR CARS

You can find the one best buy in an automobile by coming to our booth, and we invite your inspection to their undeniably perfect mechanical construction.

We Are Here to Sell Cars and We Have the Car You Want

The record of the Wescott line has never been one of ups and downs; from the beginning it has been right in design; materials used in its construction are positively the best that money can buy. The list price of the WESCOTT is only $1,800. Our unequalled facilities for production make it possible for us to market this car at the price. Look for any car costing much more that is any better. You can't find one. It looks as good and is as good—and better than most cars costing twice as much. ALL WE ASK IS YOUR INVESTIGATION.

"THE SPRING MAID."

"The Spring Maid," the newest of Viennese operettas from which harmonious ripples have been spreading over the country since its first performance last year, comes to the Myers Theatre Tuesday, March 19.

When it is remembered that the number of musical works that have been of sufficient interest to hold the Jaded theatre goers of New York for three hundred performances may be called down to "The Merry Widow," "Floradora" and "The Spring Maid," the worth of this latest work that is considered to be more effective than its predecessors, is made evident.

"The Spring Maid" is considered to have proved itself a return to the sparkle, buoyant sentiment, fun and adroit musical accompaniment that made theatre goers long for the days of Offenbach, Audran and Strauss to come again and in the waltzes and stirring marches and two-step songs supplied by Heinrich Reinhardt they admit the demand has been answered. Like the best of its class this opera is carried to an assured success by a story of fascination in itself.

HUGO E. KOCH, A "MANSON" IN "THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE."

The comedy that varies from the comical mischief of the rival spring maids to the lively drollery of the struggling band of actors, is of human beings doing things with the spirit of romance as the gaudy power. The princess flirts that she may teach her princely suitor who would not be denied, a much needed lesson and the love duel is sufficient in itself to hold the attention of an audience even without the dreamy beauty of "Day of Two Little Love Birds" and the rollicking "How I Love a Pretty Face" that are embodied in the struggle between man and woman each for an expression of affection from the other.

The new producing firm of Werba and Luecher are assuring a performance of brilliance. For the sassy prima donna role they present Dorothy Maynard, whose training in the French Opera House School and appearances with the French National Opera organization have made her a fascinating figure in this pliant character; and even the great Spring Maid Orchestra which played so large a part in the success of the work will be a component part of the production under the baton of Clarence West.

The princely lover will be played by George Leon Moore, formerly starred in "Algeria" by Victor Herbert; Bude Wilke plays the lively spring maid; Tillie Slinger and Jack Raffael, both well known to lovers of light opera, Louis Miller, Charles MacNaughton, best known of modern English comedians, Ralph Newman and H. A. Harrows are others in a long cast with an organization numbering ninety-four.

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE." During the run of "The Servant in the House" in Chicago, the Chicago Record-Herald published an editorial under the caption, "Things Worth While," in which the writer made the following reference to Charles Ram Kennedy's famous play:

"We cannot close these remarks on 'Things Worth While' without reference to that play which is supremely worth while, 'The Servant in the House,' now in its final fortnight at Powers Theatre. An extract from an old clergyman of the Presbyterian church (whose name we are not permitted to disclose) will indicate how much Mr. Kennedy's drama means to people.

"I have been a minister in the Presbyterian church for more than 49 years, and have gone to the theatre but few times in my life. I confess I have been greatly disgusted with the stage as represented in the newspapers. I read the Record-Herald's bill and it has been drawn by the attorney who states in that case; that it has been carefully gone over and that it will be perfectly satisfactory for submission to the legislature should it meet. Then, too, it is probable that some minor defects that have been found to exist in the preliminary election law and the court proceedings will be corrected. When the special session meets room will have to be provided for the holding of the sessions of the senate. It is said that the present plan contemplates the use of the assembly parlors for that purpose.

DICKENS EVENING GIVEN AT MILTON

Fine Entertainment Given by College Students Under Direction of Mrs. J. E. Day and Others.

Milton, March 11.—An important recent social event in Milton College was the Dickens evening given by the faculty to the students and the trustees of that institution Thursday evening March 7th, in the commodious and comfortable new auditorium gymnasium. As the guests arrived they were received by President Daland, Miss Crandall, head of the school of music; Miss Wiegand, of the department of Latin and Prof. Whitford, the registrar.

After a social hour all were seated for the tableaux which were presented on a stage in a room and represented various characters from the works of Charles Dickens.

As each scene was presented, Mrs. J. E. Day read a brief selection from Dickens describing the characters. The characters were taken by students. Everyone enjoyed the tableaux greatly and were especially pleased with such characters as Mr. Pickwick, Mr. Meawber and his family and Sam Weller.

Light refreshments completed an evening of enjoyment. Much credit for the success of the tableaux is due to Mrs. Day, Miss Brown, and Miss Swinney.

The characters and scenes presented included: Dickens in Camp; Little Nell and Her Grandfather; Mr. Pickwick Addresses the Club; Mr. Pickwick Returns from the Hunt; Mr. Meawber Takes the Air; Mr. Meawber in the Bosom of His Family; Oliver Twist Asks for More; Mr. Alfred Jingle; Jenny Wren, the Dolls Dressmaker; Dick Swiveler and the Marchioness; Betsy Trotwood and Mr. Dick.

Neighborhood Types: The public benefactor, Mrs. Jellyby; the Goshop, Satey Camp; the President, Mrs. Munimidge; the Parasite, Mr. Chadband.

Bob Cratchit and Tiny Tim; Sidney Carton and Lucie Manette; Before the Guillotine; Sam Weller Indites a Valentine; David and Susan Peggotty; David and Little Emily; Tom Pinch and His Sister; Mrs. Leo Hunter's Garden Party.

Rev. M. A. Drew and wife leave tomorrow for Seattle, Wash., with the hope that the change of climate will prove beneficial to Mrs. Drew.

Messrs. McKean, Kelly and Wentworth attended the basketball game in Janesville, Saturday evening.

Mrs. W. C. Wilbur has been visiting her daughter at Davis Junction, Ill. J. R. Davidson and wife of Milwaukee spent Saturday and Sunday with Milton relatives.

Barker H. H. Wells spent Saturday in Milwaukee. Miss Alice Borden of Beloit college spent Sunday at home and entertained a young lady friend from the same city.

W. O. Austin spent Sunday with D. A. Holmes.

The union meetings held Friday and Sunday evenings at Village hall were largely attended and much interest was exhibited. The music was an attractive feature.

H. A. Wheeler and wife are recent additions to the community. Mr. Wheeler is the new butter-maker at the creamery.

Edgerton, March 11.—The annual municipal election in this city to be held on April 2, promises to be a hot one from present indications, and while aspirants for office have not made their wants known yet there is promise of a lively contest. Many offices are to be filled, from mayor down including the offices of assessor, treasurer, a justice of the peace, three aldermen, three supervisors and three constables.

Enjoy Clinch Party. A company of gentlemen, ten in number, of this city and vicinity, enjoyed a clinch party at the farm home of Max Brown, two and one-half miles east of here Friday night. The event started at 7:30 and closed at 12:30. John Sherman and John Stricker carrying off the honors. At 11 o'clock a beautiful three course supper was served. The occasion is reported a complete success and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Those present were: Town Chairman, John Sherman, John Sherman, Jr., Philip Sherman, Edward Sherman, George Sherman, John Stricker, Charles Brown, D. B. Brown, Arthur Brown and Fred Galla.

Edgerton News Notes. Miss Alma Person of Stoughton, was here over Sunday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lipke.

Richard Leary, after a stay here with his mother and other relatives for the past two months, departs tonight for his home in Edmondson, Canada.

Charles Stanke was fined $10 and costs, total $13 in Justice North's court this morning on the charge of drunkenness.

Miss Alice Morrissey of Janesville, and Henry Morrissey of Madison, were here over Sunday at the parental home.

Miss Della Shachnowsky of Milwaukee was the guest of Mrs. Gertrude McCarthy and other friends over Sunday.

August Dorn, a farmer of this vicinity, returned Saturday from Rochester, Minn., where he submitted to an operation for appendicitis a short time ago. He is recovering.

Elmer Saunders a young farmer on Abilene Prairie, is suffering with an attack of pneumonia.

Peter Lipowski spent Sunday in Chicago with relatives.

Common Sense Silo

Ten Reasons Why a Common Sense Silo is Best

1. Cannot blow down
2. No bands to tighten
3. Less danger of freezing
4. Will not shrink or crack
5. Cost less than the others
6. No staves to buckle or blow in
7. Cannot swell and break the bands
8. Can be erected with less expense
9. Better improvement for your farm
10. Capacity may be increased at any time by simply raising roof

This Silo is built with 6, 7, 8, 9 or 10 sides and is made of 2x4 S 6 ft., laid like brick and lined with an acid proof roofing paper

GOVERNOR TO CALL A SPECIAL SESSION

No Doubt Now But That Legislators Will Be Called to Act on Black River Falls Situation.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 11.—That there will be a special session of the legislature, called to consider the situation at Black River Falls arising out of the conditions left by the flood disaster of last fall and to take up a very limited number of other subjects which Governor McGovern has been pressing for solution, may be safely written down. That a special session cannot meet before April 23—should one be called—is a legal aspect of the case that must control and may result in determining the date of the special session at a time still more remote.

Governor McGovern has not said that a special session will be called nor will he do so until he is satisfied beyond a doubt that the chief purpose for which the meeting will be called may be properly brought before the legislature and the proposed relief granted. It is known that from the very first Governor McGovern has been opposed to the calling of a special session and that he would not consider the proposition now but for the urgent appeals that come to him from a distressed people backed by a strong sentiment throughout the state. The committee appointed some time ago to have charge of the relief fund for the benefit of the stricken city has urged persistently the necessity of legislative action. Its efforts have reached the limits of accomplishment in the way of substantial relief and, except for what the school children of the state and here and there a private charity are doing, contributions to the fund have practically ceased and the needs of the appealing community have only been half met.

Governor McGovern said yesterday that he was not fully satisfied yet upon all the points involved in the situation as to what should be done or just how; that until he was so satisfied he would take no action. However, it is not doubted by those who understand the facts in the case, that the final outcome will be the bringing together of the legislature.

But before a special session of the legislature can be held there must be two primary elections and two special elections held to fill vacancies, one each in the membership of senate and assembly. Since the last session adjourned two deaths have occurred, Assemblyman Carl H. Dornier of Milwaukee and Senator James A. Wright of Merrill. The constitution provides that these shall be filled by special election called upon the request of the governor. The machinery of election takes time and as the legislative apportionment made by the last legislature becomes operative on April first—just 21 days hence—any special election that may be required now must be in accordance with that law of apportionment and cannot be held before April 23, giving proper time for canvass and return of the vote at the primary election.

With the prospect of a special election affirmatively established there will be discussion and consideration of what other matters, aside from the Black River Falls situation, shall be made subjects of legislative action. It is understood that the waterpower question, recently the subject of an adverse decision by the supreme court, is almost certain to be taken up again with a view to passing a bill that will stand the tests established by the court. It is known that a tentative

HOG MARKET SLOW; CATTLE TAKE SLUMP

Heavy Receipts on Chicago Market This Morning Cause Demand to Slacken—Sheep Market Strong.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, March 11.—Heavy receipts of hogs and cattle on the livestock market this morning were responsible for a slower market. 28,000 head of cattle were in the pens at the opening of trade and prices were down ten cents from Saturday's close. EGGS EXPECTED TO KEEP ON TUMBLING

Hen Fruit Becoming Very Plentiful—Potatoes Will Probably Start Gradual Rise Soon and Become Scarce.

According to the way the egg market looks today the price of hen fruit will drop again within a few days. Today the highest price is 22 cents while the lowest is about 20 cents a dozen. Besides this there is very little of note today. The few strawberries which sold at 65 cents a box have disappeared from the local market very quickly and are not expected to come again in any great quantities for a few weeks at any rate. Potatoes are still up to $1.20 and the prospects would go to show that the price is liable to rise soon as the supply is gradually diminishing. Authorities say that there will be no low-priced old potatoes this year as there was such an enormous shortage in the crop that they will be used before they are ready. The prices today are as follows:

Vegetables. Asparagus—10c bunch. Carrots—2c lb. Fresh Carrots—5c bunch. Parsnips—3c lb. Potatoes—$1.20 bushel. Green Peppers—5c each. Squash—15c. Yellow Onions—5c to 6c lb. Cauliflower—8c to 10c lb. Red Onions—5c lb. Cabbage—5c bunch. Lettuce—5c bunch. Head Lettuce—15c head. Celery—7c to 10c. Vegetable Oysters—8c bunch. Beets—15c to 20c lb. bunch.

Shallots—10c bunch. Parsley—5c bunch. Rutabagas—5c lb. Radishes—5c bunch. Yellow String Beans—20c lb. Cukes—5c bunch. Endives—5c each. Kohl Rabi—10c. Brussels Sprouts—25c box. Cucumbers—20c. Ho Plant—15c. Fresh Spinach—15c.

Fresh Fruit. Apples—Kings, 5c lb.; Greenings, 5c lb.; Spies, 5c lb.; Jonathans, 7c lb.; 80c peck. Apples—Box, $1.75 to $2.75.

Cranberries—10c to 12c. Bananas—Dole, 10c to 20c. Imported Maltines—20c lb. Lemons—30c doz. Grape Fruit—5c, 7c, 4 for 25c; 10c, 3 for 25c; 13c, 2 for 25c; 15c each. Naval Oranges—15c to 45c doz. Tangerines—20c to 30c doz. Pineapples—15c each. Florida Oranges—15c to 45c dozen.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

GAVE FINE ADDRESS ON TOPIC OF INDIA

Basanta K. Ray Spoke to Large Audience at Congregational Church Last Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Evansville, March 11.—A large and very appreciative audience listened to a most interesting address given by Basanta K. Ray, at the Congregational church last night. Mr. Ray is a very brilliant speaker, also amusing. He gave his audience a very clear idea of the many depressed conditions existing in India at the present time, among them the educational conditions, village life among the poor people and the caste rules. The home life among the higher caste was also very interestingly spoken of. I am sure all members of the audience join with me in hoping they will again have the pleasure of hearing Mr. Ray.

Local News. Miss Leta Walton returned to Magnolia to her school duties last night.

Miss Leta Acheson of Loati, spent Sunday with her parents here.

Miss Marquette Colony spent Sunday at her home here.

Her Frugal Mind. A man whose illness threatened to develop into typhoid was taken to the hospital. Instead of growing worse he improved, and at the end of the fourth day, when his wife visited him, he asked to be taken home. "But you have paid for a week," replied his thrifty spouse. "They won't refund the money. You had better stay your week out."

Why? Why is it that the average man is always willing to spend $4 worth of time trying to get a 40-cent reduction in his gas bill?

Called. "I asked the audience to lend me their ears," said the verbose speaker. "But in three-quarters of an hour they were dozing." "I see," replied the financier. "They called the loan."

Wisely Reasoned. From the diary of Samuel Pepys: "The generality of mankind please themselves in the easy delights of the world, as eating, dancing, drinking, hunting, which we see the meanest men do best. A gentleman never dances so well as the dancing master; and an ordinary fiddler makes better music for a shilling than a gentleman will after spending 40. And so in all the delights of the world almost."

Zulu Wedding Ring. The Zulu woman wears her wedding ring in her nose. A double purpose thus served. It discourages promiscuous kissing and she is in little danger of losing her ring; in fact, she always loses where it is.

WOMAN'S PAGE

HEART AND HOME TALKS BY BARBARA BOYD

The Newly-Weds and the Present High Cost of Living

SHE had been in town shopping and she had waited to take the 5.15 train home, so she could meet her husband. As the train whirled through the deepening twilight into the country, they, though the man did most of the talking, discussed finances. They hadn't been married long, one could tell that from the conversation; but he was becoming slightly worried, only slightly as yet, about expenses.

"I gave you five dollars only yesterday," he said. He didn't say it disagreeably. They hadn't reached that stage—yet. "And it's all gone, isn't it?"

"Yes," she replied lightly. "Seems to me, you don't any more than get money nowadays before it's gone. It was a dollar for this, and fifty cents for that, and by night, I had scarcely any left."

He was silent a moment. "And what you've got here," pointing to her packages, "cost about three didn't it?"

"Yes," she replied in the same rather indifferent tone. She began to enumerate what she had bought.

He took out a pencil and paper and commenced to figure.

"Our gas bill is awful," he said. "I came down stairs this morning at quarter of seven, and the girl had the gas lighted in the dining room and the gas radiator going. She said she lighted them when she came down, at six o'clock, mind you. The room was so hot I had to open the doors."

"Yes, the gas bill is pretty steep, I'll tell her to be more careful."

Thus the conversation ran on. There was no disagreeable wrangling. They were people of fairly good income, that could be gleaned from the talk. But the cost of living was beginning to pinch the man's pocketbook.

The point of the whole thing, however, was the woman's unconscious indifference, not wilful indifference, but unconscious indifference, to what the man was driving at. At times, there was a tense note in the man's voice, as if he felt something must be done. But through it all she was gay and light-hearted; and finally, to divert his attention from what she evidently considered a disagreeable subject, she began extolling the beauty of her engagement ring. "It certainly is pretty, Jack," she commented. "I like the setting, and that is a dandy little diamond."

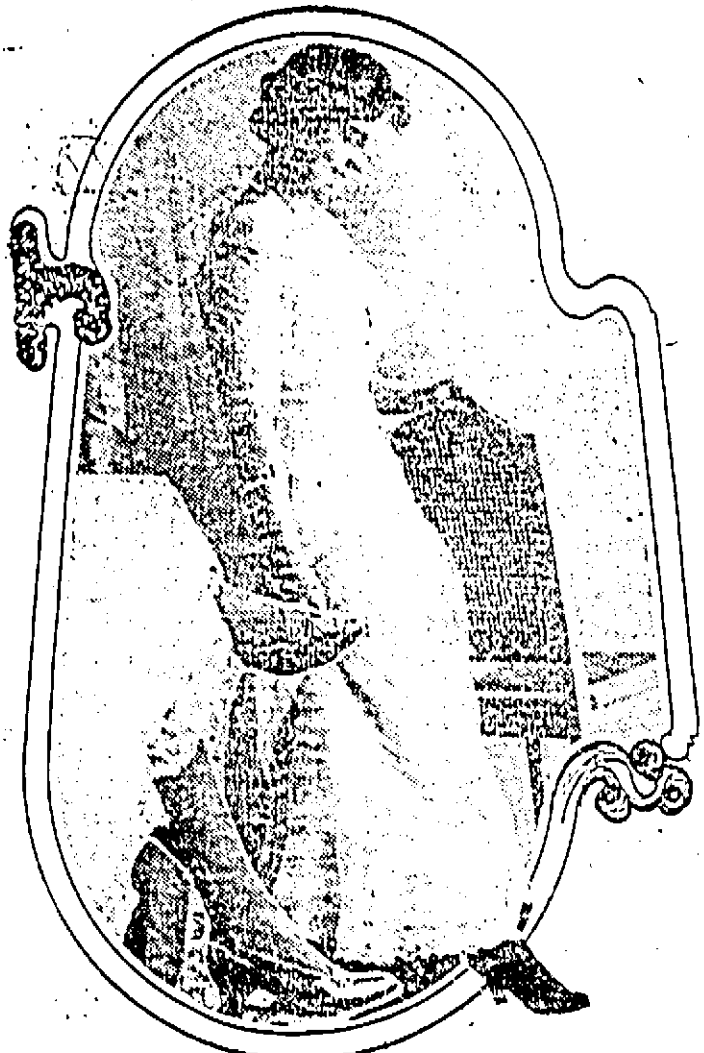

The man said nothing, but the worried look did not leave his face.

She was really neither a heartless nor an indifferent woman. No doubt, in the main she thought she was performing her duties as wife and housekeeper quite satisfactorily. And if any big trouble came along, she would respond splendidly to the demands made upon her. But she simply didn't comprehend the present situation, nor enter into her husband's anxiety. She seemed to have unbounded faith that his salary would stretch indefinitely, and that since clothes and food and shelter were necessary, the money would be forthcoming to pay for them.

But there is trouble ahead. More homes have been wrecked by the financial question than by almost any other problem that enters into the matrimonial voyage. If the man says nothing and tries to carry the burden, and strains every nerve to meet expenses, he eventually breaks down, or becomes such a business machine that he is no longer a companion. But more frequently, he does as did this man, talks the matter over pleasantly, at first, and tries to make his wife see the gravity of the situation. If she fails to do so, sooner or later, there are bitter words and accusations and recriminations, and the peace of the home has departed.

The salary that might be stretched at one time will not, on the same scale of living, stretch now. The wife has a big problem on her hands to make, buckle and strap most. And when the husband sounds the first note of warning, she shouldn't turn the matter aside as of no importance. But she should grasp the seriousness of it, and get right on the job of making income and outgo match.

Barbara Boyd.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Examples of What the Ladies Aid Served at Luncheon.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

The president of the ladies' aid society was overheard discussing the menu at the luncheon prepared for the all day monthly meetings and the drift of her remarks seemed to be a criticism of the unnecessary variety. The plan of providing is to appoint a different committee of five to bear the expense of each luncheon and to serve it.

The cost of this luncheon for an average of seventy-five members, and divided among the five who provided, varied all the way from $1.50 to $2.20 each. The quality of the food is not always proportionate to the cost because of the ability of some women to spend money more wisely than others.

Some of the luncheons were more appetizing than others and this did not depend on a greater number of items. Occasionally a menu was a bad combination and induced several attacks of indigestion.

The somewhat broken story was not intended for my ears and so it was not possible to ask questions. It recalled however the experiences in another ladies' aid society where a similar plan of providing and bearing expense is followed.

In this instance the rolls are bought from the bakery and the coffee is made by a man sent out from a coffee house. One woman who always attends sometimes makes a note of what is served and from this is secured the following menu:

Stuffed baked potatoes, creamed dried beef, gingerbread, cheese, coffee.

Meat loaf, creamed potatoes, twin rolls, home made cakes, coffee.

Potato salad, cold ham, rolls, gingerbread, coffee.

Macaroni and cheese, salmon salad with boiled dressing, apple pie, rolls, jelly, coffee.

Potato chips, scalloped oysters, hot rolls, tomato jelly, salad, spice cookies, coffee.

Corned white ham, boiled lima beans, bread, spiced apples, chowchow, lemon pie, coffee.

Cream of tomato soup, minced beef, macaroni and bread crumbs baked together, hot rolls, bananas and oranges cut together, home made cake, coffee.

As a rule, enough of all the items in each menu is provided so that all are served alike. The main error lies in furnishing a great deal too much of one or two things and so meeting with a loss unless the food is bought by some one.

Most housewives learn to gauge the appetites of their own family, but luncheon for twelve or fifteen times as many people and with unknown appetites is a problem.

In the notebook alluded to were a few menus that were not enjoyed and among these were: Beans baked with excess of pork, cold roast pork, hot rolls, squash pie, coffee.

Another included potato chips, cold roast pork, bread and butter, pickles, grape fruit cut in halves, package cookies.

Some wiser societies make a cast iron rule that nothing more than sandwiches and coffee are to be served and there is much to be said in favor of this simplicity. It is not so monotonous as one might think because there is a wonderful difference in sandwiches.

Fads and Fashion

New York, March 11.—A careful study of the latest models exhibited by the noted makers of fashion in Paris and here leads to the conclusion that the vogue of the scant tight frocks is approaching its vanishing point. That does not mean that the return of the crinoline may be expected any day; it merely means that the ultra-fashions of fashion have, for the present, abandoned the extreme suaveness of skirts and, while still clinging to the slender silhouette, construct their models on a more conservative basis, introducing features which allow greater freedom of movement and add slightly to the width of the skirts.

Even the smart tailored suit has taken on skirts in sections, tulle effects, shaped flounces, platings, caught up draperies, greater hem width, all while retaining a comparatively straight silhouette. The cutaway coat echoes similar lines in some models. In others it assumes a Directorate character. The Directorate slashed skirt reappears, but it is often slightly draped and the opening is discreetly filled, though in dress frocks the filling consists merely of tiny chiffon or lace flounces which the French wear without underskirts, though the Americans have never accepted this phase of the Directorate.

Even where there is considerable fullness in the new lingerie and tub models, length and an air of straightness are frequently retained by full length trimming lines or by trimming lines continuous in bodice and skirt, though perhaps not running to full skirt length. The crossing embroidered tulle bands of the lingerie frock already seen last summer, after one such effect, providing too, the modish painter and surprise lines, and the girly passes under this front trimming in order that the long lines may not be broken.

A similar girly trick may be observed in some of the lingerie and other tub frocks in which the long line is given by a front panel or apron tulle, arrangements much favored, frankly belted or girdled blouses with puffed sleeves of various lengths and flared skirts, though many belted bodices and coats are a far cry from Russian modes.

Even the most casual glance at the new models reveals the fact that the long waist has at last established itself firmly after two seasons of hesitating aloof. There are short waists still. They belong with certain types of frocks. But the normal waist is the rule, and with it comes a revival of belts, or girdles, or corsets fitting the figure a trifle more snugly at the waist than has been the rule in the past seasons.

With the lowering of the waist line and the renewed vogue of the belt this season the separate blouse is once more coming into favor. Girls could wear lingerie blouses, cream net blouses, etc., with their dark skirts, but the average woman's figure is hampered a blouse matching the high waisted skirt in color. With the fall of the waist line and the return of the belt and girly a less firmly drawn line follows in the matter of the blouse is likely to prevail. The blouse matching the costume may still be smart, but it will not be absolutely imperative. Women are not going back to the days of the separate waist available for all purposes, but the separate blouse that does not match the skirt will be less obnoxious upon the ordinary figure than it has been.

The chiffon blouse has become a welcome solution of the problem which presents itself when one tries to make a blouse match a wool costume yet be cool enough for comfort, becoming and slightly dressy. Its admirable qualities will keep it in evidence again this season, and one finds it in all degrees of elaboration, from theatre blouses in which laces, embroideries, etc., play an important part, to the street and traveling blouses, in which the dark velvet of the throat and exposed neck of the cream lace or net which it veils. There is, so far, nothing radically new in these chiffon blouses, but there are some attractive new blouse models in crepe, tulle and other silks, in nets and laces and in lingerie effects.

One of the distinctive details of the smartest French blouses in silk is the long sleeve, and women who want a blouse for hard wear with a tailored street or traveling costume will find that some of these blouses fill a long felt want, provided they find such blouses at all. Oddly enough the domestic designers have not seemed to recognize the appeal in the long sleeved blouse that is chic as well as possible and most of them continue to divide their models into short sleeved, sheer models of more or less dressy degrees and richly sewed, shirtdresses or long sleeved, high collared tailored waists of conspicuous ugliness.

For hot weather a three-quarter sleeve is undeniably more comfortable than a long sleeve, but even three-quarter sleeves have been comparatively rare, the sleeves of most of the models being of elbow length.

The little frill over the hand which finishes some of the long blouse sleeves is open to objection in that it soils readily, but it is easily replaced, and if one does not want to cleanse it there are countless varieties of ready made net and lace platings which cost little and can be bought by the yard. Turned back cuffs are shown in many styles and are easily made if one has an eye to economies.

There also is the simple, closely fitting long sleeve which shows a little wristlet cuff of lingerie or lace coming out from under the silk sleeve and a little more snugly fitted than the latter. A long sleeve slightly flared into a cropped shoulder armhole seam and running into a tightly fitted diagonal cuff which reaches almost to the elbow on the inner arm, but to only half that depth of the outer side, is used on some of the French crepe blouses, and a tight, long sleeve, buttoning almost to the elbow on the outer side of the arm and with a frill running along the opening is popular.

There is a tendency among the blazars in some of the new blouses, being made of chiffon or net, and lined with shot tulle, and the color schemes in many are opalescent. Others are more vivid with touches of brilliant oriental needlework.

Colbert and Richelieu embroideries are used in conjunction with the finest of the laces and decorative washes of novelty ribbons. These embroideries are of a raised or padded sort, and the floral design is executed on extremely sheer muslin, batiste and handkerchief linens.

Linens dresses with oddly shaped tunics, bordered by a heavy fringe of linen, are to be much worn this summer.

The great or ball fringe is used to edge the tunics of voile and muslin dresses.

The Evening Chit-Chat BY RUTH CAMERON

W E were talking the other day about a young mother who takes life unusually hard, and someone cited another woman who certainly takes life easy, if anyone ever did.

"What we need in these strenuous days," said this man, "is more easy going people like Mrs. R., who'll take things as they come and not be all the time planning and fretting and worrying."

This man who places such a high premium on easy going people is, needless to say, easy going himself. For instance, he does not believe in allowing family cares to make life miserable "the way some people do."

He can't see why he should be tied to a furnace as some people are. He isn't. He attends to his furnace when he happens to remember it and it gets along just as well that way, as other people's furnaces do. That's his story. Of course, that furnace gets along all right.

Why shouldn't it when his wife, who, needless to say, takes life very hard, attends to it if he fails to? That's the other side of the story. He doesn't tell that. Although he does occasionally hold up his wife—a thin, tired little person—as an example of people who take life too hard.

Strangely enough, Mrs. R., whom he applauded as a woman who knows how to take things easily, has a husband of the opposite temperament. When she refused to be disturbed or worried because the baby had a bad cold, it was he who worried about it, and who finally insisted they have a doctor. Of course, Mrs. R. did not believe the doctor knew what he was talking about when he said the baby barely escaped pneumonia. "He is just one of those doctors who like to exaggerate things so that they can have more credit for curing them," she explained.

Mr. A. is another of these easy going folks. He could make a good living as a bookkeeper, but he doesn't like the work and has taken up news paper work instead, at which he is most emphatically not a financial success. "But what of that?" he says airily. "I enjoy it and I am willing to receive less remuneration than for work I dislike. We get along very comfortably at home, and I am not ambitious for wealth. Happiness is more important, I think."

Of course, they get along very comfortably at home. Why shouldn't they, when Mr. A.'s daughter, who is working herself to death, turns almost all her earnings into the family coffers?

As anyone who has ever lived with one of these take-it-easy people can testify, easy going folks are apt to make hard going for somebody else.

Of course, we need easy going people in the world. We need their even dispositions and happy-go-lucky ways and cheerful temperaments. But we need the other kind to remember the things they forget, and do the things they neglect, and in general, counter-balance them. And it doesn't seem to me that it behooves easy going folks to depreciate those who are so unfortunate as to be born with a sense of responsibility.

ALL DRUGGISTS

TOBACCO SALES ARE FALLING BELOW 8 CENTS PER POUND.

Which Yields Farmers About $130 Per Acre.

Stoughton, March 11.—Considerable tobacco is being received these days at the Stoughton station, mostly shipped elsewhere for handling. The Lorillard's are operating a gang in the south half of warehouse No. 1 and have a large amount of leaf on hand to be stored till some future date or sorted and packed. Sales reported the past week run below the 8 cent mark and farmers obtain about $130 an acre for fairly desirable goods. Sometimes the sum runs as low as $100 an acre.

Its wonderful success in this line has made it the safest and most dependable medicine of the age for women and no woman suffering from female ills does herself justice who does not give it a trial.

SEES MANY DANGERS IN SMALLER EVILS

REV. CHAS. J. ROBERTS BEGAN SERIES OF INTERESTING SERMONS AT U. S. CHURCH.

AN ATTRACTIVE HOME

Declared To Be A Cure For Many of the Perils Which Beset the Youth of the Land.

Picturing some of the dangers which imperil the youth of today in the shape of some of the minor sins and misdemeanors which are sometimes considered lightly, the Rev. Chas. J. Roberts warned parents and others against these smaller evils in the first of a series of Sunday evening sermons on the "The Six-Fingered Giant" at the United Brethren church last evening.

Mr. Roberts emphasized the necessity of a strong will power to combat successfully the dangers of sin. It is also a means to success, for experience has shown that the truly successful man is not always the most brilliant but the man who has had a strong character backed by a strong will, is more often the man who attains the greater degree of success in all lines.

But in addition to the power of will it is necessary to have an obedience to the cause of righteousness. Mr. Roberts spoke briefly of the life of Aaron Burr, and declared that the reason for the downfall of that man, one of the most brilliant in our history, was that he refused to obey the law of right but placed success above righteousness rather than strict adherence to moral and spiritual laws above success. And so he sought to render unsteady the nation thinking only of himself and his own ambitions.

In speaking of the smaller evils which lead to the great mistakes such as were committed in Burr's life, the speaker likened them to the Devil's kindergarten. In them he found the gradual leading away from the law of righteousness on the downward path to eventual destruction. "The Devil," he said, "begins in a small way. He wants the boy to break away from his mother's apron strings. He tempts the boy to get out and have a good time. This is no great crime but it leads finally to an estrangement with the good of the home and of the church.

The use of tobacco the speaker declared to be one of the early causes of the Devil to start his followers on the downward path. "As long," he said, "as the substance from the use of tobacco will add the human system in resisting disease it is worth the effort required to refrain from its use."

One of the worst of the early wrongs which tempt the boy and girl, the speaker said, was the learning of the "leading light." Parents were sometimes responsible for this for when the virtually drive their children from the home in order to be free from their noise and play they are adding in the work of evil which is apt to follow. The tobacco store, the pool room, with their associates, lead the young into iniquitous habits of life which lead to the greater sins.

As the best of remedies for such mistakes on the part of the youth, the speaker urged for a better atmosphere in the homes. "Make them attractive as far as possible and allow the children to use them without restraint. Better turn the house upside down rather than drive the boy or girl out on the street where they are at once the prey for evil forces."

"The church also has a mission to protect the young. It should help to entertain the young, and teach them the happiness which comes from pure amusement. Socials have their place in showing this and the young should be included in the social affairs of the church."

Modern forms of amusement, such as the dance and the theatre, and the use of profane and vulgar language, were also found to be methods employed by the Devil to lead the youth astray.

The pastor closed by a plea to the parents, to the church-members, to give their aid to the cause of saving the young from the besetting dangers of evil. He urged them not to be the cause for the downfall, consciously or unconsciously, of any of the youth of the land.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL ISSUES NEW WARNING

T. M. Purcell Sends Out Advice Relative to the Effects of Lightning.

There is nothing like being ahead of time in your warnings, according to State Fire Marshal T. M. Purcell. While you sit and shiver over the furnace register or about the glowing coal stove, you can read all about the effects of lightning and the summer storms. However, remember that spring showers bring May flowers, and so be satisfied that even the fire marshal believes spring is coming. He writes as follows:

The season of probable electric storms is close at hand, so we send out this warning of red buildings. Absolute immunity from lightning danger is practically unattainable. On this men of science agree. They also agree, and experience has demonstrated that a good lightning rod is a great protection.

When the electric discharge comes from a single cloud to the earth it will seek out a lightning rod. When the electric energy is stored in two more clouds, the upper clouds overflow into the lower and this to the earth resulting not in one lightning bolt, but in a veritable deluge of electricity. With this the ordinary lightning rod system cannot cope.

Experience also teaches us that the chances of being struck are much greater in the country than in the city. This greater immunity in cities is due to the net work of electric light and power and telephone wires, buildings constructed of iron, and iron roofs.

So there is special need for the lightning rod on country buildings. Two years ago this department sent out inquiries to the secretaries of all Farmers' Mutual Insurance companies of the state calling for the total lightning loss and a comparison of losses on buildings protected with those not so protected. Their replies furnish a powerful argument in favor of the lightning rod. One secretary of thirty-three years' experience as such stated, that his company never sustained a loss on a building which was properly protected. This was the general tenor of the replies of all.

Mr. Hermann Pfund of Madison, secretary of the German Evangelical Lutheran Fire Insurance association in a bulletin last issued, states that records of his office from 1890 to 1912 show one hundred and five lightning losses on churches with a total damage of $15,667.19, and twelve lightning losses on other parish property with a damage of $429.96. Speaking from this experience he recommends the rodding of all buildings, especially churches, whose tall spires and gilded iron crosses seem to invite the lightning to strike.

We strongly recommend the rodding of buildings. A strong cable made of a bundle of copper wires is better than the solid rod. We further recommend a deep grounding in permanently damp earth.

We do not and cannot suggest any particular make of rod. There are several good makes, and both the manufacturer and selling is done in a more honest manner than formerly. In many cases you can obtain the best from your local hardware dealer, at a fair price, and with it get the guarantee that comes from the business honor of a man you know.

The expense is small when compared to the danger of both property and life, and the actual loss of both due to lightning.

Do not wait until the lightning strikes to rod your buildings. Do it now.

WISCONSIN WOMAN STARTLES BOSTON

Claims She Is a Suffragette and Gives the Hub of the Universe a Scare.

According to a Boston dispatch the town is wide awake to the fact that Miss Harriet Arthur of Dodgeville, Wis., is here. Talk about your suffragettes! She is a regular suffrage lecturer, come out of the west to show Boston women what to vote a thing or two about gaining their cause. Says Miss Arthur:

"A suffragette is a woman who wants to vote; there are lots of them here; but a suffragette is a woman who bites policemen; that's the kind I am."

Miss Arthur is in Boston having her voice trained and making converts to the suffrage cause a side line. "It is in the west where the real suffragettes are most to be found," she said on Saturday. "Boston needs some good hot western spirit to wake it up along that line as well as along numerous other lines that I could mention if I wanted to."

HAVE THE POLICE AT LAST CAUGHT FAMOUS SPANISH SWINDLERS?

Many Letters Have Been Received in Janesville From This Noted Gang.

Every few months Janesville business men have received letters from a mysterious person in Spain who either languishes in a prison, has millions concealed in a trunk seized by the customs officers, or has a daughter or niece that would like to come to America to her long-sought-for relative, if only a few hundred dollars might be secured, advanced as it were, to pay for bribing the prison guards, and securing the trunk in which the untold wealth is concealed.

How many of these letters have been received here is merely a problem, but it is known that in the last ten years at least one was answered, although the letter itself with the money enclosed was recovered by the postal authorities in Spain. A half dozen of these letters have been brought to the Gazette office and published as a warning to others.

In the wake of this influx of letters from Spain to several people in Janesville asking monetary aid to retrieve some great fortune, comes the news that a gang has been arrested and broken up in Spain, which for ten years has perpetrated the "Madrid Swindle" all over the world. One of the men taken into custody during the raid at Bilbao was the ring leader of the gang who has secured international fame among police records as "The Spanish Prisoner." This title was given him because the letters sent out by him and his agents apparently were written from some Spanish prison.

All the letters recently received in Janesville were of the same tenor. Each letter was written apparently in a Spanish prison and told at length of the imprisonment of the writer who was held to millions in gold if he could secure his release. The writer appealed to the addressee that if he would forward a certain sum of money to him to buy his release from prison he would show his appreciation by dividing half the fortune, which he named, immediately upon release from prison.

One method, which "The Spanish Prisoner" worked apparently to the greatest success followed the close of the Spanish-American war. His operations first attracted public attention after the war when certain Spanish soldiers who had been quartered in Cuba began to receive mysterious letters.

The gist and nature of the letters was that a fair American belle, whose brother had been in Cuba, had often heard her brother speak of the addressee until she began to entertain for him a tender affection; and would he not send her photograph. Usually the youthful, romantic Spaniard, although not remembering the brother, complied with the request.

Then succeeded a correspondence, which finally developed the fact that the girl's brother had died, and that she had been left with her great wealth without any protection but a wicked guardian, who would force her to marry him so that he might become possessed of her fortune. "Oh, for only a few hundred dollars," that she might fly to her Spanish lover, who would know how to thwart the wicked guardian! Usually the son of Spain fell into the trap. All over Spain there are sad-eyed youths waiting for the appearance of fair and wealthy American scintillas.

LOCAL AUTO SHOW IS RECEIVING NOTICES

County Exhibit to be Held Here This Week Noted in Milwaukee Papers.

That the coming show of the Rock County Automobile dealers is attracting considerable attention throughout the state is evidenced by the following article published in the Milwaukee Free Press Sunday:

Rock county automobile dealers have made arrangements for a monster exhibition of cars of twenty or more standard makes of national reputation, which will be held at the club building in that city, March 14, 15 and 16. This is the first affair of the kind ever attempted in the county and promises to be a big event. Between 100 and 200 of the new model cars will be on exhibition, including all types and styles from the low priced runabout to the $5,000 touring car. In addition to all the latest of passenger cars there will also be a number of delivery and motor trucks at the show and all sorts of automobile equipment and appliances, latest designs and bodies.

Simple Explanation of Courage. What we call courage is often but presence of mind properly applied.

When beer in light bottles is exposed to light, the beer develops a disagreeable odor and "skunky" taste.

All brewers even cover the hand-holes of the case before shipping, to keep out the light.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles won't spoil after the case is open.

Pure beer, properly aged, will not cause biliousness.

Physicians and surgeons prescribe Schlitz, instead of malt tonics, as a builder of health.

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."

Physicians Delighted By What New Tonic, Tona Vita, Has Done.

Tired out, run-down half sick people are not so numerous as they were a year ago. "Tona Vita" the great modern tonic has proved as successful in the United States as in Europe, and many thousands of Americans have been built up and restored to health by this medicine.

The physicians who introduced "Tona Vita" in this country are enthusiastic over the remarkable success of the medicine, and those who have been restored to health are also glad to tell what their experience has been.

Mrs. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., a trained nurse for sixteen years, and a graduate of Bellevue Hospital, New York City, says:

"I have had no opportunity to take sufficient rest and during the past year this has told on me. My nerves began to trouble me. I have not been sleeping well and my appetite and digestion were not as they should be. I tired easily and did not have the vitality to withstand a hard day's work as formerly. This tonic 'Tona Vita' was recommended to me and I decided to give it a test. I have been greatly benefited in health and strength by this medicine. I sincerely believe the tonic to be highly meritorious judging from my own experience."

Do you lack strength and vitality? Do you take cold easily, and sleep poorly? Are you nervous and depressed? If so you are a sufferer from nervous debility and you should at once get a bottle of Tona Vita and see how quickly it will build you up.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel; there's nothing any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel.

"Every little Olive tablet has a movement all its own."

THE WAY OF A MAN

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1907, by the Outing Publishing Company

"Ah—ah, my dear young lady—my very dear young lady"—he began.

"Captain Stevenson," exclaimed the girl, whirling suddenly on my second, "stop this at once! I'm ashamed of you!"

Her hair, reddish brown in the sunlight, was massed up by the blinding well, which she pushed back now from her face. Her eyes, wide and dark, were as sad as they were angry. Tears streamed from them down her cheeks, which she did not dry. There came to me as I looked at her a curious sense that I and all my friends were very insignificant creatures, and it was so, I think, in truth, she held us.

"Stop this at once!" cried the girl.

"Captain Orme," said I to my opponent, "you observe the actual supreme court of America." He bowed to me, with a questioning raising of his eyebrows.

"I am unfortunate to lend by a bird," said I tentatively. For some reason the sport had lost its zest to me.

"And I, being the loser as it stands," replied Orme, "do not see how I can be eager to go on as I myself."

"Miss Ellen," said Judge Reeves, removing the hat from his white hair, "these gentlemen desire to be sportsmen as among themselves, but of course always gentlemen as regards the wish of ladies. Certain financial considerations are involved, so that both feel a delicacy in regard to making any motion looking to the altering of the original conditions of this contract. Under these circumstances, then, appeal is taken from this lower court," and he bowed very low, "to what my young friend very justly calls the supreme court of the United States, Miss Ellen. It is for you to say whether we shall resume or discontinue."

The girl bowed to Judge Reeves and then swept a sudden hand toward Stevenson and Williams. "Go home, all of you!" she said.

And so, much shamefaced, we did go home, Judge of the supreme court, officers of the army and all, vaguely feeling we had been caught doing some illegible thing. I have never since then shot in a pigeon match or cared to see others do so. I think the intuitive dictum of the army girl was right.

"Now wasn't that like Ellen?" exclaimed Kitty when finally we found ourselves at her carriage. "Just like that girl. Just wasn't it like that girl? To do in the face of the supreme court of the state and all the laws of sport as well? Jack, I was keeping cool." She held out her ivory tablets. "You'd have beaten him sure, and I wanted to see you do it. You were one ahead and would have made it better in the next twenty-five. Oh, won't I talk to that girl when I see her!"

So that was Ellen! And it moreover was none less than Ellen Meriwether, daughter of my father's friend and business associate, whom I had traveled thus far to see and whom, as I now determined, I must meet at the very first possible opportunity. Perhaps, then, it might very naturally come about that—but I dismissed this very rational supposition as swiftly as I was able.

CHAPTER VII.

The Wreck on the River.

EVENTS had somewhat hurried me in the two days since my arrival at Jefferson barracks, but on the morning following the awkward ending of my match with Orme I had opportunity and occasion to take stock of myself and of my plans. The mails brought me two letters posted at Wallingford soon after my departure, one from Grace Sheraton and one from my mother. The first one was—what shall I say? Better perhaps that I should say nothing save that it was like Grace Sheraton herself, formal, correct and cold. It was the first written word I had ever received from my fiancée, and I had expected—I do not know what. Certainly I had not expected to see sitting on the page written in my fiancée's hand the face of another woman. I hated myself for it.

The second letter was from my mother, and it left me still more disconcerted and sad. "Jack," it said, "I grieve unspeakably. I am and beyond all imaginings of sadness. I need them. Come back the first day these can to thy mother."

Yet the post adjutant had received word that Colonel Meriwether would be gone for some days or weeks on the upper frontier. Therefore I wrote my fiancée and my mother that it would be impossible for me to return at the time or at any positive future time then determinable. That night I took passage on the River Belle, bound up the Missouri. Our churning wheels had hardly reached the turbid flood of the Missouri before the spell of the frontier had caught me.

I made friends with many of these strange travelers and was attracted especially by one, a reticent man of perhaps sixty odd years, in western garb, full of beard and with long hair reaching to his shoulders. Aubrey was his name, and his tales set my blood a-tingle. He was bound as he informed me, for Laramie; always provided that the Sioux, now grown exceedingly restless over the many wagon trains pushing up the Platte to all the swiftly opening west, had not by this time swooped down and closed all the trails entirely.

Among the skin clad trappers, hunters and long haired plainmen I saw but one woman. I should say that she was at least sixty years of age and nearly six feet in height, thin, angular, wrinkled and shrewy. She wore a sunbonnet of enormous projection, dipped snuff vigorously every few moments and never allowed from her hands a long squirrel rifle. She was accompanied by her son, a tall, thin, agreeable youth of perhaps seventeen years and a height about as great as her own. When I first saw them she was driving her son before her to a spot where an opening offered near the bow of the boat, in full sight of the passengers, of whose attention she was quite oblivious.

"Get up, there, Andy Jackson!" she said, "Stand up!"

The boy, his long legs brailing under him and his peaked face still more pale, did as he was bid. He had no sooner taken his position than to my surprise I saw his mother cover him with the long barrel of a dragon revolver.

"Pill your gun, you low down coward," she commanded. Reluctantly the boy complied, his own revolver trembling in his hand.

"Now, what'd you do if a man was to kill you like I'm a-doin' now?" demanded his mother.

"G-g-g-gosh, now, I dunno! I think I'd j-j-jump off in the river," confessed the boy.

"Shore you would, and good luck if you'd git plumb drowned, you white livered son of misery. Whatever in this yere ole world you was borned for certainly is more'n I can tell, and I your maw at that, that orle know if anybody could."

"Madam," I interrupted, "what do you mean, by such talk, to your son, for I presume he is your son?"

"Shut up and mind your own business!" answered the virgin, swiftly turning the barrel of her weapon upon me. "What business is this here of yours?"

"None, madam," I bowed, "but I was only curious."

"You keep your own curiosity to yourself of your going to travel! In these parts. That's a mighty good thing for you to learn. You, Andrew Jackson, stick your pistol up again your head the way I tell you. Now snap it, dash you! Snap it till you git through being scared of it. Do it now, or, by gosh, I'll chase you over the side of the boat and feed you to the catfish, you low down inbred son of a he thing!"

"My good woman," said I, "do you mind telling me what is your name?"

"Name? Mandy McGovern, and I come from Pike," she answered, almost before the words were out of my mouth. "I've been married three times, and my first two husbands died a-blight! Like gentlemen in difficulties with friends. Then along come this Danny Calkins, that taken up some land right to me in the bottom—low downest coward of a man that ever disgraced the side of yearth—and then I married him."

"Is he dead, too, my dear woman?" I asked.

"Don't you 'dear woman' me. I ain't free to marry again yet," said she. "Now, he ain't dead, and I ain't divorced either. I just done left him. Why, every man in Pike has whipped Danny Calkins one time or other. When a man couldn't git no reputation any other way he'd come a-roling and whipped my husband. I got right tired of it. And the wife of two real men before then! I had eight children by my two husbands that was real men, and every one of them died or got killed like a man or went west like a man exceptin' this thing here, the son of that there Danny Calkins. Why, he's afraid to go out huntin' at night for fear the cat'll git him. He don't like to walk a keow for fear she'll kick him. He's afraid to court a gal. He kin't shoot, he kin't chop, he kin't do nothing."

"Say, mister," said she, "how tall are you?"

"About six feet, I think."

"Hum! That's just about how tall my first husband was. You look some like him in the face too. Say, he was the fightin'est man in Pike. How come him to get killed was a difficulty with his brother-in-law, a Dutchman that kept a saloon and couldn't talk English. Jim, he went in there to get a bite to eat and asked this Dutchman what he could set up. Paul—that was the Dutchman's name—he says, 'Well, we got dawg-malld dawg and red-head dawg and canvasback dawg—what's the kind of dawg you like, Chum?'"

"My husband thought he was pokin' fun at him, talkin' about catin' dawg, not knowin' the Dutchman was tryin' to say 'luck' and couldn't. 'I might have a piece of duck,' said Jim, 'but I ain't catin' no dawg!'"

"I said dawg," says Paul, still a-tryin' to say 'duck!'"

"I know you did," says Jim, and then they clinched. Jim he broke his knife off, and the Dutchman soaked him with a beer mallet. 'But, Mandy,' says Jim to me just before he shot his eyes, 'I die content. That there fellow was the sweetest cuttin' man I ever did cut in all my life. He was just like a ripe pumpkin.' Say, there was a man for you, was Jim. You look some like him."

"You compliment me very much, Mrs. McGovern," I said.

"Say," she responded, "I got 2,000 head o' bawgs runnin' around in the timber down there in Pike."

At the moment I did not see the veiled tenderness of this speech, but thought of nothing better than to tell her that I was going no further up the river than Fort Leavenworth.

"And I may be a whidder almost any day now; somebody 'll shore kill Danny Calkins 'fore long," was Mandy's final hint.

We were running in the dark before the rising of the moon, a thing cautious steamboat men would not have ventured, when some time toward midnight there came a slight shock, a grating slide and a rasping crash of wood. With a forward clanking of her paddles which sent water high along the rail the River Belle shuddered and lay still, her engines throbbing and growling.

I joined the rush to the bows and, leaning over, saw that we were hard aground at the lower end of a sand bar. Imbedded in this bar was a long white snag, a tree trunk whose naked, thrusting far-downing top, had literally impaled us. The upper wood-work of the boat was pierced quite through, and, for all that one could tell at the moment, the hull below the line was in all likelihood similarly crushed.

Sudden disaster usually brings sudden calm, the pause before resolution or resignation. Running down the companionway, I found myself among a crowd of excited deckhands, most of whom, with many of the passengers, were pushing toward the starboard rail, whence could be seen the gloom of the forest along shore. The gangway door on the opposite side of the boat was open. I sprang out and, making good my hold upon the nearest limb as I plunged, found myself standing in not more than four feet of water, the foot of the bar evidently running down well under the boat. As I turned to call to others I saw the tall figure of my plainman, Aubrey, take a flying leap, and he joined me on the snag. "It's better here than there," he said. "If she slugs or busts, and they're allus likely to do both."

As we pulled ourselves up into the fork of the long naked branch we heard a voice and saw a woman leaning over the rail of the upper deck. I recognized Mandy McGovern. "What you all doin' down there?" she called. "Wait a minute; I'm comin' too." A moment later she appeared at the opening of the lower deck and craned out her long neck. I then saw at her side the figure of a young woman, her hair fallen from its coils, her feet bare, her body wrapped apparently only in some light silken dressing to be thrown above her night wear.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should Be a Warning To Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements—to help to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indigestion, and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee Street, Janesville, Wis.

Still to Memory Dear.

There are few men in this country fatter than President Taft, and there are equally few who get more amusement out of their own avocations. Senator Nathan B. Scott, who always tries to get off something funny when he goes to the White House, told Mr. Taft one day: "You know, Mr. President, it is a very usual thing for fat men to get thin as they grow older." "Well," replied the president laughingly "if that happens to me it will give me an opportunity to see something of some old acquaintances of mine." "Who are they?" asked Scott. "My ribs," replied Mr. Taft.—Popular Magazine.

To the Newspapers!

Hail to the newspaper, comforter of lonely hearts which wander, blinder of human ties, voice of the nation, vehicle of sympathy for the bereaved, participator in joys of the living; joining the people of a land, yet bringing cheer and comfort to those of the armchair and fireside.

Clipping the Mind's Wings.

Quite early in life Mrs. Pope had realized that it is necessary to be very careful with one's thoughts. They lead to trouble. She had clipped the wings of her own mind, therefore, so successfully that all her conclusions had become evasions, all her decisions compromises. Her profoundest working conviction was a belief that nothing in the world was of value but "fact," and that the art of living was to "do things over."—From "Marriage," by H. G. Wells in the American magazine.

As It Sounded to Him.

A teacher in Kansas City, Kan., was having her class quote the Twenty-third Psalm. When the last verse was reached, "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life," etc., a little boy near by was heard to say: "Surely good Mr. Murphy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

You Can Make Your Farm Pay 6% on $1000 Per Acre Value

There is one piece of ground on Frank Mann's farm, near Gilman, Ill., that for seven years produced an average of 5 tons of alfalfa per acre. The next year it produced 20 tons of silage per acre, the next 115 bushels of corn, then 882 bushels of oats, and last year 52 1/2 bushels of wheat. The average gross return each year for these eleven years was more than $80 per acre. Making a most liberal allowance for all the labor and other expense of growing the crops, there is still enough net profit to pay 6 per cent interest on a valuation of $1,000 per acre. Land is worth as much money as the crops will pay interest on.

You Can Farm Like Frank Mann

You can make your farm worth $1,000 an acre by raising crops like Frank Mann's. FRANK MANN'S SOIL BOOK will tell you how. This book contains the meat of the practical experience of a man who has made good. It puts forward no unproven theories. Every point that the author makes is proved by facts from his own farm. It is a book of practical experience that any Middle Western farmer can follow on his own farm, and double his profits while he is doing it.

How To Get This Great Book

Fill out the coupon below and hand it to the editor of this paper with one dollar for a three years' subscription to PRAIRIE FARMER, the great Illinois farm paper, and a copy of Frank Mann's Soil Book will be given you free as a premium. Attendant—Yes, sir, that's the man she married.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.
"Dickie, I'm awfully sorry you use tobacco. I don't like it, and mamma simply loathes it. Will you stop when we are married?"
"Isn't that asking a lot, dearie?" asked Dick.
"I wouldn't care for myself," answered the girl, "but you know it makes mamma deathly sick."
"Well, then," he promised, cheerfully, "I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll never smoke when your mamma is with us."

She threw her arms around him. "Darling," she murmured, "that's so good of you! I was afraid you'd insist on smoking once in a while after we were married!"
Really Quite Shocking.
"Why is Mrs. Moggles in such high dudgeon?"
"She sent a personal item to the Daily Clarion stating that she was confined to her bed with a troublesome molar."

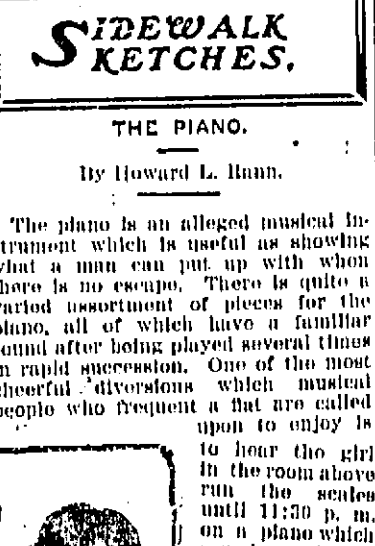

HER STRONG POINT.
The waitress who most men delight in is not so fair to see.
The admiration she excites seems rather odd to me; yet this much own I in her praise—She really has got fetching ways.

Inexplicable.
"I can't understand it," said the general publicity man, "the failure of 'Naughty Nellie.' It seems to me the thing can be explained very simply. The music didn't amount to anything, and the book was nothing but the stupidest kind of trash."

"I know all that, but confound it, I brought it over from Europe, didn't I?"
Started at the Bottom.
His rise was very rapid, as his neighbors all declare; his once was a chimney-sweep, but now he's clipping hair.

A Solomon on the Bench.
"You are charged with assault and battery," said the judge sternly. "Your honor, permit me to say a few words in my defense."
"Proceed."

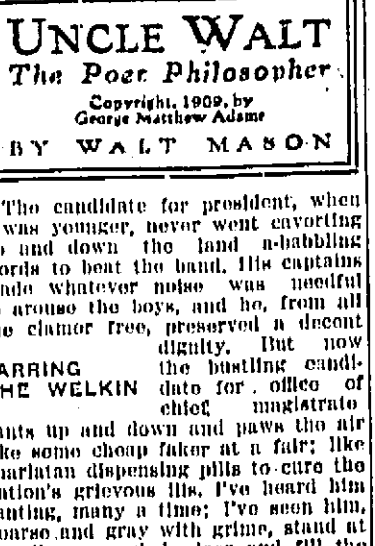

"The man whom I am accused of beating came up to me and said, 'If Wood would row, how long would Woodrow Wilson?'" Decided.
How brightly beam the sun without! The skies above are blue. We're in a mood to look about And see if spring is due.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.
THE PIANO.
By Howard L. Hann.

The piano is an alleged musical instrument which is useful as showing what a man can put up with when there is no escape. There is quite a varied assortment of pieces for the piano, all of which have a familiar sound after being played several times in rapid succession. One of the most cheerful diversions which musical people who frequent a flat are called upon to enjoy is to hear the girl in the room above run the scales until 11:30 p. m. on a piano which sounds as though it were harboring a severe and relentless pain in the sounding board. The soft pedal is an attachment to the piano which is never used except when the villain is about to open a yawning aperture in the tending man's breath reservoir. Pianos used for practice purposes have no soft pedal or mercy on man or beast, but they have a loud pedal which can drive "The Maiden's Prayer" up six flights of stairs and through a brick wall into the next apartment. When a piano gets so run down that a person with a keen ear can't tell the key of G from a fellow's sneeze, it is timed by a dentalist's office who runs blithely over its works with a tack hammer and a monkey wrench. A piano is said to die in the time when the father can hear "Just Before the Battle, Mother," without complaining that the hired man forgot to oil the windmill. A piano recital is a painful function which separates the sheep from the goats, usually cast for the role of the goat. The self-playing piano is a device which tends to promote culture in the home and make a pair of lean bleats like twin Indian clubs. As a result, there is a loud demand in country club circles for men who can pump a self-player for two hours at a stretch, including revivals, without contracting a catarrh in both legs.

Sotto Voice.
Well, brother, I'm sorry. We heard him utter, "Twain something about the price of butter."

UNCLE WALT
The Poor Philosopher

BY WALT MASON

The candidate for president, when I was younger, never went envying up and down the land—habbling words to beat the band. He captains made whatever noise was needful to arouse the boys, and he, from all the clamor free, preserved a decent dignity. But now the bustling candidate for the office of chief magistrate pants up and down and paws the air like some cheap faker at a fair; like charlatan dispensing pills to cure the nation's grievous ills. I've heard him ranting, many a time; I've seen him, hoarse and gray with grime, stand at a railway coach's door and fill the air with squawk and roar, imploring people for their votes. Our presidential candidates should be like other poddling slaves and take some sidewalk frisks along to play the bones or sing a song, and have a monk collect the man when all the noisy show is done. Alas! Alas! The good old days, the sober men, the quiet ways!

City's Large Demand for Oysters.
It is estimated that 130,000,000 oysters are yearly shipped to Liverpool.

MR & MRS WILLIARD D STRAIGHT
HOME BURNED IN PEKIN.

Pekin, China.—Throughout the present unpropitious state in China, Mr. and Mrs. Williard D. Straight, personal representative of the Morgan interests, have been the center of much international interest. The fight in the streets of Peking seems to have been directed somewhat against this American representative. His house was attacked, his library sacked, and Mr. and Mrs. Straight were forced to flee to the American legation. This is the most recent picture of them and was taken in J. P. Morgan's home, which has been destroyed by the rioters. Mr. Straight was formerly American consul to Mukden, but for some time has been devoting his efforts to the interest of Morgan and other American capitalists. Mrs. Straight was formerly Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the late W. C. Whitney.

Name Saved Him.
A man brought before the court in Hildesford, Me., on a charge of vagrancy, when asked by the judge to give his name, answered, "David G. home." The judge contracted his brows. "Your last name again?" he asked. "Gohome," was the reply. "All right, go ahead," said the judge, "that's a new one on me."
Can't Get Away From Them.
"The proof of the pudding is in the eating; you can't get away from that," says an advertisement. And the Monahan Mercury adds: "There are a lot more equally trite bits of wisdom that it seems impossible to get away from."—Kansas City Star
